

A Second Article Moves Special Meeting Date

The one-issue special town meeting scheduled for Monday, Nov. 17, has become a two-issue meeting and moved to Thursday, Nov. 20, by a three to one vote of the selectmen Monday night.

The selectmen had intended to confine the special meeting to former selectman Sidney P. White's two zoning amendment articles, which, if approved, would allow him to build a multi-family housing development on an 18-acre parcel located at the corner of Argilla Road and Andover Street.

The selectmen are opposed to holding special meetings, and have urged White to bring his articles before the annual town meeting in the spring.

However, the board reopened the warrant Monday night to insert an additional zoning article when the petitioner, William Gurry of 131 Main St., threatened to call for a separate special town meeting.

Gurry has obtained 351 signatures on a petition asking for insertion of his article onto the November meeting warrant. He told the selectmen that he had been under the impression that they planned to reopen the warrant to allow additional articles to be inserted.

"I was a bit irritated when I brought my signatures to the town clerk and he told me they were not valid because the warrant was closed," Gurry said. "I had no intention of calling another special town meeting — I want to be included on the same warrant as Sid White."

After his original signatures were rejected, Gurry obtained an additional 300 signatures on a separate petition for a special town meeting, which he presented to the selectmen.

And Gurry added that he would "absolutely" call for a separate meeting if his article were not included on White's warrant: "A lot of people have put a lot of work into this," he said, "and I intend to go forward with it."

The selectmen reopened the warrant and inserted Gurry's article, with the signatures certified by the town clerk, to avoid the possibility of another separate meeting.

"There is no way we're going to have two special town meetings in this town," said Selectman Norma Gammon. "We've got to go on the same night."

But before town meeting can hear Gurry's petition, the Planning Board must hold a public hearing on his article, with

Record Building Year Holds Tax Rate Hike At $2

By Robert E. Finneran
Editor

A record building year has resulted in a $2 tax rate increase, as compared to a projected $5 or more back at town meeting time.

The $66 rate was certified by the Department of Revenue this week, according to Assessor William H. Russell.

While initial indications back in the spring showed the $5 increase, based on estimated receipts, plus town meeting action, what was not anticipated was the highest increase in valuation in the town's history.

Russell explained that after all the new valuation was in, based on Jan. 1, 1980, construction status, Andover had realized an increase of $19 million, of which approximately $11 million was in industrial buildings.

The new valuation resulted in an additional $1,254,000 in tax dollars for the town, the assessor explained.

The increase is the largest single rise in a year for Andover since 1970, when $12,900,000 was recorded, again the major increase being in the industrial area.

Russell pointed out that figures for this year also reflected a substantial amount of additions and alterations.

Total valuation of the town for fiscal 1980-81 is set at $295,889,100, which includes $284,189,100 in real estate and $11,700,000 in personal property.

Russell also said the town benefited from an appeal by the assessors to state reimbursement for Harold Parker Reservation land. The appeal upheld in favor of the town, resulted in an additional $95,000 in revenue this year.

Andover proved to the state appellate tax board that the state land holdings were greater than the amount for which the town was reimbursed through the cherry sheets.

This increase will result in the additional $95,000 annually over the next five years.

The breakdown of the 1980-81 Andover tax rate shows 57 percent going to operations of the schools with the remaining 43 percent for general government, resulting in a monetary breakdown of $36.41 schools, and $29.59 town.

Recycling Program Successful

By Virginia Cole

Andover Recycling Inc. is pleased to report to the public a successful first year of operation. Taking over the curbside pick up of recyclables from the town on July 1, 1979 and with a grant from the town of the $32,000 Town Meeting had voted for the purpose, the non-profit corporation was able to run the program and ask the town for only $20,000 for its second year.

Tonnage collected grew only a little; 1112.16 tons as compared with 1062.54 tons in 1978-79. Of course the earlier tonnage included cans so probably glass held its own and paper increased. Because of the changing prices in the paper market, the total revenue to the program was much larger in 1979-80. $9668.62 was returned to the town in 1978-79. $16,573.31 was realized by Andover Recycling.

Andover Recycling continued its annual auction; instituted aluminum collections downtown four times a year; both providing revenue. Mailing the recycling calendar and trash information to each house in town was the main expense of the organization in addition to the $30,000 contract to do the curbside pickup.

There are many pluses for a recycling program; re-use of materials, energy savings, conservation, encouragement of a less throw-away society.

The bottom line for most of us, however, is what does it cost me; what does it cost the town. The Dept. of Public Works has provided figures on the disposal of trash for Andover. $268,660 per year is the cost to pick up and dispose of your trash out of town; $38.00 per ton. Andover Recycling is disposing of a ton of recyclables for $12.07. Every ton that you can move from the trash bag to the brown paper bag saves $26.!

Glynn Is Elected

James A. Glynn, III, of North Andover was recently elected representative on the class council by the Class of '84 at Dartmouth College. The class council works to promote class unity and to serve the interests of the class.

Glynn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Glynn, Jr. of 124 Mifflin Drive. A 1980 graduate of Phillips Academy Andover, he was editor of the School Year Abroad Yearbook, and a member of the chorus and drama club. He was also named a National Merit Commended Student.

Trick Or Treat Hours Are Established

Hours for youngsters to make their rounds for trick or treat, have been set at 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday, Halloween night.

Andover police have urged parents to be aware of safety of the youngsters, not only making their visits, but in the use of costumes as well. Police will be touring the community in an effort to enforce safety procedures, and request all parents to be sure that the youngsters are off the street by 8 p.m.

Shelter Volunteers Requested

A fallout shelter exercise is scheduled for the weekend of Nov. 18-20 in Andover East Junior High School.

The exercise is a simulated experience for those wishing to learn about conditions in an emergency situation.

Volunteers are now being welcomed from the community and those wishing to participate should contact either Police Chief James R. Johnson or Supt. of Schools Kenneth R. Seifert, who are in charge of the program.

Second Flu Clinic Wednesday

The Andover Board of Health will hold a second influenza vaccination clinic on Wednesday, Nov. 5 from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the Haven, 11 Essex St., Andover. This Clinic is for those over sixty or with chronic disease who were unable to attend the October clinic. Pneumovax will be given to those who are pre-registered. Transportation for a minimal fee can be obtained by calling 475-4310 24 hours before the clinic.

To Replace Flags On Graves

Members of the American Legion, Post #8 and the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Andover, will meet in the Veterans' Headquarters, 8 Essex St., Andover, Sunday, Nov. 2, at 11 a.m., for the purpose of replacing more than 1100 American Flags on graves of Veterans who are interred in local cemeteries, prior to the observance of Veterans Day.

In the event of inclement weather, this activity will be postponed to the following Sunday, Nov. 9.

DCS Classes Cancelled

Department of Community Services classes located at the high school will be cancelled on Election Day, Nov. 4. Programs instructed at other schools will be held as scheduled.

Santa Claus To Arrive Dec. 6

The Andover Firefighters Union will hold its annual Christmas parade, with the selectmen's approval, on Saturday, Dec. 6, starting at 1:30 p.m.

The parade will begin at East

Junior High School, proceed along Whittier Street to Summer, Elm and Main Streets, and then to Punchard Avenue before ending back at the junior high.

Film Tour Sunday Of Two Andovers

When the Andover Historical Society puts on its free historic slide show on the "Two Andovers" for the public on Sunday, Nov. 2, at 2 and at 3 p.m. at the Historical Society, 97 Main St., it will cover many visual aspects of the history of what was once a single community.

Included in this offering of over 100 slides and accompanying script are 14 old homes, six churches, three private schools and three historic cemeteries. This presentation will evoke a long-past lifestyle which is the heritage of both old timers and newcomers in this community.

Among the houses covered are Moody Bridges, Parson Barnard, Kittredge, Samuel Osgood and Phillips homes in what is now North Andover. In Andover, we show Abbot Tavern, Rose Cottage, Benjamin Abbot House, Phelps mansion, Bullfinch Hall, Stowe House, America House, and the Amos Blanchard House.

The six old church buildings pictured on this "tour" of the Andovers are the Unitarian Church (1836) in North Parish and in South Parish, the Free Church (1846), Baptist Church (1834), St. Augustine's (1895), South Church (1861) and Christ Church (1886).

Also shown are buildings of the three private schools which gave Andover its academic distinction: Abbot Academy, Phillips Academy and the Andover Theological Seminary.

Briefly described are three old burial grounds: the first (1660) in North Andover, South Church (1710), and the chapel cemetery (1810) where Harriet Beecher Stowe is buried.

Although this slide show does not cover everything of local historical interest, it does reveal a good deal, and it affords an opportunity to see some history unfold before your eyes in an historical setting. Next Sunday, Nov. 2 at 2 and again at 3 p.m. at 97 Main St. Admission is free and the public is cordially invited.

For information on other open hours, exhibits, tours, special events and membership, contact the Society office, open 9-5, Monday through Friday.

Haunted House Tonight

Tonight the Stowe School on Bartlet Street will come alive with goblins, witches and horrible monsters when it is transformed into Andover's Haunted House. Doors will creak open beginning at 7 p.m. for anyone looking for an entertaining tour of the old school.

New School May Have Changeable Heat System

A heating system that alternates the use of oil and gas may be installed in the Doherty school when it is converted into a junior high, a heating consultant told the building committee last Thursday night.

Heating and ventilation consultant Carmelo Agostino and Mechanical systems consultant David Berg described in detail the plans they have been developing with architects for the three-part, $11.72 million school building project.

Architect Herb Glassman of Perley F. Gilbert Associates said design development of the architectural aspects of the project, and parts of the structural aspects, is now complete. He said the plans are now entering the construction document stage — the last step before the project is put up for bids.

Plans for the electrical systems should be completed in time for the building committee's next meeting, scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 6, Glassman said.

Doherty's current power plant, a combination oil and steam system, will be totally refurbished, with a resulting 30 to 35 percent increase in energy efficiency, Agostino said.

"All the mechanical systems will have the latest techniques in energy conservation," he told the committee. Automatic controls will maintain the heat at 50 degrees in unoccupied rooms and at 68 degrees in occupied rooms, he said.

The consultant suggested that the new Doherty power plant could use oil, gas or a combination of both: Gas would be used when the temperature is above 20 degrees, and oil when the temperature fall below 20 degrees.

He explained that when temperatures dip, the gas company would give top priority to its other consumers, such as home-owners.

Agostino said discussions of this plan are now underway with the gas company, and that the arrangement might be negotiated "at some cost benefit to the town."

The existing piping structure in Doherty will be "totally abandoned" because the pipes are corroded and the controls are outdated. Agostino said installing the new system will not cost much more than it would to upgrade the system to bring it up to current building codes.

The new Doherty power plant will serve the existing Doherty school, the new addition and the Memorial Hall wing of the East Junior High, which will become part of the new junior high.

The two remaining wings at East with neither be served by the new plant nor upgraded, Agostino said. However, he proposed that new gas or oil boilers be installed in each wing.

Committee chairman Kenneth Gropper reminded the architects that the wings will not be part of the school, and that the funds to renovate the wings are not included in the school building project.

"We realize that they are not accounted for in the project," replied architect Gerry Dion. "But we would be seriously remiss if we did not investigate alternatives for heating the wings."

At the high school, a new automotive wing will be heated with electricity because it is a small addition to the existing building, which is now heated with electricity.

But the new 1,250 — seat auditorium will be treated as a separate building, Agostino said, and heated with gas. The heating and air conditioning unit can automatically adjust depending on the number of people in the auditorium, Agostino said, or the automatic control can be shut off.

The committee asked the consultant to develop a cost analysis of the auditorium system both with and without the cooling unit.

The new Instructional Materials Center (I.M.C.), or library, at West Junior High will be heated by the existing oil plant at the school, Agostino said.

"The existing boilers have sufficient capacity to satisfy the needs of the new I.M.C.," the consultant said. "During the day, the library won't need that much heating, because there are a lot of windows."

In reply to a question from the committee, Agostino said he has investigated the possibility of using solar heat at the schools, but found it to be impractical alternative.

"The cost would be outrageous," he explained. "Unless you can set federal funding — which I don't believe is available right now — you still have a 20 to 25 year payback."

The committee, however, asked Agostino to submit cost estimates for their information.

Consultant David Berg described plans for structural systems to the committee. One committee concern focused on plans to build interior load-bearing walls at Doherty. (Bearing walls are those which support the weight of the floor or roof framing as well as their own weight.)

"If we put load-bearing walls in a classroom, will that set the width of that classroom forever?" asked Gropper. "There are currently some rooms at East that are flexible because of bearing walls."

The bearing walls could be removed in the future, Berg answered. He added, "If you prefer not to go with the load-bearing walls now, that's fine. But in the long run I think that will be more expensive for Andover."

"I don't feel you would be short-changing the community by going with bearing walls," he added. Corridor walls could be taken down as well, "and the structural expense would not be that huge," Berg said.

The consultant explained that the new I.M.C. in the courtyard at West will present some "logistical problems." One of those problems could be solved by using a crane to lift building materials over the existing roof and into the courtyard.

Plans call for prefabricating sections of the building to "minimize the time the crane will be present on the site," Berg said, noting that the crane operator will be working "blind" because the existing building will block the courtyard from his sight.

The pagoda-shaped roof of the I.M.C., the subject of some controversy recently, will be wood-framed and built on four major pieces of laminated wood, Berg said.

"To me, this is an exciting building to work on," he told the committee. "I think you could end up with a very handsome addition to the school — something that would draw people into it."

Annual Meeting For AVIS

The 85th annual meeting of the Andover Village Improvement Society will be held at the Christian Formation Center on Tuesday, Nov. 11.

AVIS: History and Conservation has just come off the press and will be available for the first time. Juliet Mofford, a North Andover resident and local historian, is author of the book. It tells how the objectives and attitudes of AVIS and Andover have changed and the events and persons involved in its 85 year history.

The program for the evening will feature a film, "Americans on Everest," the story of the successful 1960 ascent, covering both its hardships and tragedies. Willi Unsoeld, who resided in Andover, appears in it a number of times, as well as an account of his successful ascent.

The social hour starts at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at seven and the program at 8:15. There will be a brief business meeting with election of new members to the board of trustees. Both the dinner and program are open to everyone. Reservations for the dinner can be made by contacting Mrs. Rachel Garcia on Cheever Circle prior to Nov. 7. No reservations are necessary to attend the program only.

Halloween Party

New England Repertory Theatre is holding its Halloween Party Oct. 31 from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. featuring the music of The Artic Cookout Band at 23 Oxford St. in Worcester. The play Tartuffe will also be presented that evening at 8 p.m. and the public is invited to attend wither or both events. International refreshments will be served and prizes will be awarded for the best costumes.

Association Open House

The Family Service Association of Greater Lawrence will hold an open house on Nov. 6, at 7 p.m. at the United Fund Building on 430 North Canal St., Lawrence, in order to introduce the agency's programs, plans, and its new director, Thomas Kelley.

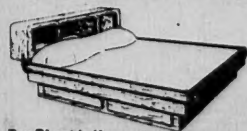

The evening will open with a wine and cheese reception for current board members and for members of the newly formed Friends of Family Service.

The Methuen High School Drama Club will present a Play for Living, entitled "Who's Counting," which deals with the problems facing our elderly people today. The cast consists of Cheryl Keegan and Kim Hunt, seniors, and Elizabeth Brien, Karen Lacroix and Wayne Barbin, juniors. The public is invited to witness this production, which will begin at 8 p.m.

If anyone is interested in attending this open house and is in need of further information, contact the offices of Family Service.

Altered Plan Saves Money

The price tag on plans to make the new Doherty Junior High School accessible to the handicapped has been reduced by $40,000, an architect for the school building project told the building committee last Thursday night.

By revising the planned system of ramps, architect Gerry Dion has eliminated the need for an elevator to take handicapped students to the second floor of the school.

The expanded ramp system will cost an additional $13,000, Dion said — but the elevator would have cost $50,000 to $60,000.

In addition to shaving $40,000 from the project costs, the new plan is "substantially nicer than before," the architect observed. "It's a substantially more successful way of moving people throughout the building."

Committee member Donald Robb pointed out that ramps are actually safer than elevators, because elevators cannot be used during fires, and can accommodate only one passenger at a time during other emergencies.

The new plans also feature what Dion described as a "glass cage" encompassing the first-floor vestibule, and rising to enclose a greenhouse for the science department on the second floor.

The building committee found the revised plans "essentially better, safer, and more cost-effective," committee chairman Kenneth Gropper told the architect.

The architects are also taking another look at the Doherty site, including parking lots and tennis courts, in light of the recent verdict that the Stowe School will be razed.

Moving on to plans for the new high school auditorium, Dion described proposed acoustical systems and seating.

The cost for 42-inch high seats for a new 600-seat auditorium at Doherty and a new 1,250-seat high school auditorium could range from $88 to $105 per seat, the architect said.

At those prices, the seating will cost at least $53,000 for the Doherty auditorium, and $111,000 at the high school. However, the architect pointed out that these are "list prices," and do not necessarily reflect the range of bids the committee would actually receive.

In other business before the building committee Thursday night, Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark said he and committee members Paul Curley and Richard Landry have received four proposals for project managers to supervise the $11.72 million school building project.

"Three of the bids including two individuals and one company, look fairly strong," the manager said. Clark and the two committee members plan to interview the prospective project managers next week, and submit their recommendation to the full committee on Nov. 6, he added.

The committee was also introduced to three new student members of the building committee: Laura Grams, representing Andover High School; and alternates Laura Scileppi, representing East Junior High, and Robert Mattedi, representing West Junior High.

Mitsakos On Interview Program

Dr. Charles L. Mitsakos, Assistant Superintendent of Schools of Andover will appear as a guest questioner on Firing Line, William F. Buckley, Jr.'s interview program, Nov. 9. Dr. Mitsakos participated in the Great American Achievements Program Fourth Annual Conference and participated in discussions on "Education for a Free People," the theme of the conference and the theme of the Buckley program.

The Great American Achievements Program is a 13 year study of the values, ideals and principles of the founding years of America, 1776-1789. Each year a separate concept is the focus of a major study by scholars, national public figures, educators and concerned citizens. Study materials are produced in the form of a book, a study kit and an audio-visual. This information is available to schools and citizen groups.

Job Sharing Applicants Sought

The Merrimack Valley Job Sharing Project is seeking applicants to participate in job sharing demonstration teams. Teams are currently in the process of being formed and include psychological counselors, programmers, business administrators, etc. The project is particularly interested in persons with technical or health background. Interested parties should send their resumes to 6 Pioneer Circle, Andover, 01810. Further information can be obtained from Marcia Hohn, 6 Pioneer Circle, Andover or Kathy Wilson, 8 Stratford Road, Andover.

Job sharing is one of new alternative work schedules in which two people share the responsibility, salary and benefits of one full time job. It is designed to help individuals who are trying to balance a professional life with family commitments or other major responsibilities in their lives.

Majority Vote

Selectmen Accept Report Opposing Proposition 2½

Following the recommendation of the Andover Tax Relief Committee, the selectmen Monday night voted four to one to oppose Proposition 2½, the property tax relief referendum question.

After four weeks of "spirited discussion," eight of the committee's nine members agreed that while tax reform is "a critical necessity" in Massachusetts, the passing of 2½ "would have a damaging effect on life in Andover."

In a written majority report to the selectmen, the committee highlighted eight reasons why they oppose the proposition.

The report notes that with a limit on property tax revenue of two-and-one-half percent of full and fair cash valuation of property, and a reduction in the motor vehicle excise tax from $66 per thousand to $25 per thousand, Andover could lose $3 million in revenue during the first year of 2½. This would amount to a reduction of approximately 10 percent in the town budget, leading to "a noticeable loss of services."

The committee also maintained that the proposition would "largely destroy" home rule, because many communities would have to turn to the state to replace lost revenues — "with communities subject to more state requirements on how, when and where to spend such state aid."

Committee member Milton Greenberg presented a "minority report" to the selectmen, in support of 2½.

Greenberg argued that "there is no evidence that Andover will suffer a $3 million cut in appropriations" during the first year of the proposition, maintaining instead that the cut would be $1 million or less.

In addition, the effect of reduced excise tax revenues could be softened by the legislature, which could "program the so-called loss over a five-year period," Greenberg said.

Urging the selectmen to focus on the proposition's effect on Andover alone, rather than other municipalities, Greenberg said he did not believe town services or administration would be seriously affected by passage of the referendum question.

However, Selectmen Norma Gammon and Susan Poore pointed out that if larger towns and cities require increased state aid as a result of 2½, the result could be decreased state aid for Andover.

Selectman Jerry Silverman also objected to the possible loss of home rule: "The closest thing to town money we have is town government," he told Greenberg, "and now you're going to take that away from us."

While agreeing with Greenberg that losses in revenue could indeed be as low as $1 million during the first year, the town manager said the proposition would continue to place "severe budgetary restraints" on the town and schools in future years.

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark said voters cannot count on the legislature to amend the proposition, if it is passed, until municipalities begin to feel its bite.

"The legislature is a reactionary body," he explained, "and I think they will only react when they see the unworkability of 2½, as opposed to speculating on its unworkability."

Committee Chairman George Neilson agreed that Andover "is in no position to assume anything that might happen on Beacon Hill."

The selectmen voted four to one, with Edward Harris opposed, to support the conclusions of the majority of the tax relief committee.

Members of that committee, in addition to Chairman Neilson and Greenberg, are Ruth Dunbar, John Eaton, George Forsythe, Joanne Marden, William Munroe, Philip Salamone, and Don Scott.

The committee is expected to continue working beyond the election on the long-term issue of tax reform in Massachusetts.

Public Forum

For 2½

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I'm sorry you have editorialized against the taxpayer. I would hope however that you would re-examine your position, based on an unbiased review of the history of the taxpayers plight, in this state and the politicians response to that plight over the years and up to the present. Based on their past history and the nature of the politicians can you honestly conclude that if 2½ is defeated they, the politicians, teachers union, state employees and Representative Cohen will seek and obtain relief for the taxpayer.

Health Center Expands Into Barnard Building

Two historic buildings have become the new site of the Greater Lawrence Mental Health Center, Inc.

The Barnard Building, 4 Park St., Andover, and the Gleason Building, 351 Essex St., Lawrence, will host open houses Thursday, Nov. 6, from 3-6 p.m. The festive day's events will end with a board meeting and annual dinner meeting at the Andover Country Club.

The Andover and downtown Lawrence sites join the Andover Street in South Lawrence Center, in providing comprehensive community mental health services to Andover, Lawrence, Methuen and North Andover.

The Open Houses will give community members and agencies the opportunity to meet the staff and learn more about the Mental Health Center's services.

Refreshments will be served.

Units Set On Zoning Issues

In preparation for the special town meeting recently called by the selectmen, the Andover League of Women Voters Housing Committee has begun an examination of the two zoning issues on the warrant.

On Nov. 20 the town will consider an amendment to its zoning bylaw which would create a new Townhouse Cluster District, and the rezoning of two land parcels from single family residence to this new Townhouse Cluster district.

The League's Housing Committee will hold two informational units prior to the special town meeting to discuss in detail the proposed zoning amendment. These units will focus on the impact of townhouse cluster zoning on the town's master plan. They will be addressing such specifics as increased density, building heights, increased traffic flow, sewage, drainage and the overall impact on the town's environment, revenues and services.

The League of Women Voters has been an outspoken advocate of fair housing and housing alternatives. At the same time, the league continues to stress informed voter participation. The committee has examined the proposed amendment in detail and is concerned that Andover townspeople be informed of its far-reaching effects.

BILL SAWYER

Congress

Democrats and Independents
-Why Bill Sawyer? Why should you change the voting pattern of your life for this man?

Bill Sawyer believes all of us are so tired of looking at tough numbers on fuel bills, grocery receipts and tax bills, that you will cast political labels aside this election. Bill Sawyer hopes you share his belief that we'll never solve today's problems by pouring more and more of our money into a government that doesn't know how to manage it as well as we do. We all work too hard for our money to let it go easily. It's time that Congress had to deal with problems the way we do every time we go to the market. That is, start using our money carefully, start doing more with the money they've got. The first real job Jim Shannon got he earned $60,000 of your tax dollars. He hasn't had to deal with the problems the way we have.

The man who represents you now in Congress hasn't been voting for your interests. President Carter and the Democratic leadership are responsible for tripling inflation in the last 4 years. Jim Shannon helped make it happen by voting with them 84% of the time.

During the campaign, Bill Sawyer has given you detailed ideas about inflation, research and development, defense, hazardous waste and the problems of the elderly. But in this message Bill Sawyer wants to say this:

"I'm a realist. So I'm not all funny hats and fleeting handshakes. I'm not the kind of politician who takes a poll, finds out what you want to hear and then fills it full of rhetoric and pumps it back to you. I've lived in the Fifth District for the past 22 years and have had twenty years experience in local and regional government. Jim Shannon is only 28 years old. He's a young man doing business the old way and we all know that that doesn't work any more. No one man is going to turn America around by himself. But it can be done. It has to be done. And with your help I'd like to start in November."

If you would like more information about Bill Sawyer's plans and programs, call: 263-9736 or 454-7250.

Students Volunteer Time, Talent

The school year 1980 finds many Andover High School students involved in the Andover School's Volunteer Program (ASVP). The purpose of ASVP is to foster responsible and constructive involvement of students in various worthwhile civic organizations.

Some of the many associations in which Andover students are involved include: the Andover-North Andover YMCA, the office of Congressman James Shannon, the Greater Lawrence Educational Collaboration, the Greater Lawrence Chapter of the March of Dimes, the Andover Historical Society, and the Christ Church Handicapped Day School.

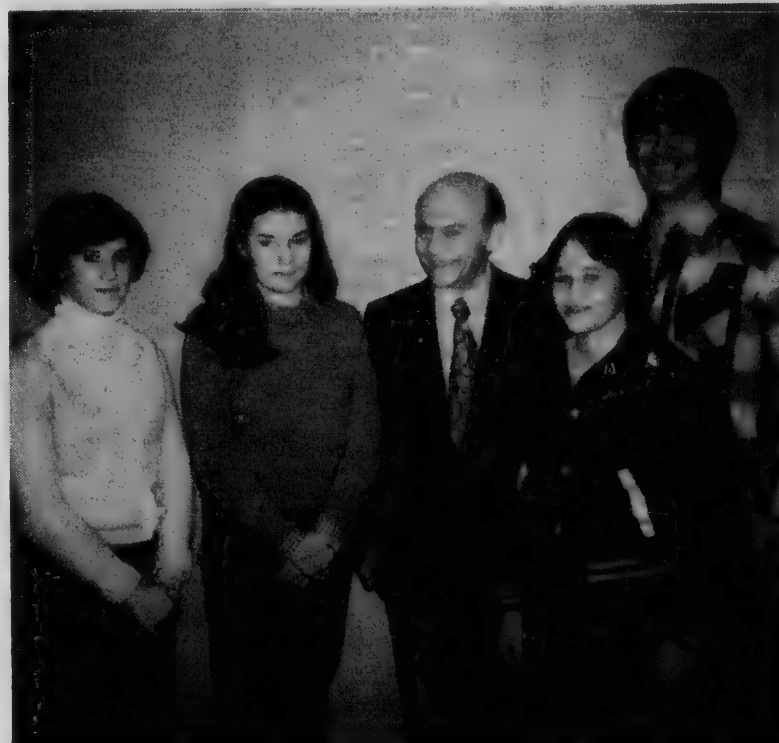

The eligibility requirements for ASVP are simple: a student must schedule their academic requirements during the morning hours and can be released by 12 noon, or students can just volunteer during after school hours or on Saturdays or Sundays.

The student is basically free to choose the type of placement that is right for him and then he finds a mutually acceptable volunteer position. To enroll in the ASVP, the student must a) secure parental permission; b) complete placement agreement with the agency; and c) keep track of his accumulated volunteer hours.

Student volunteers receive .50 credits for each 60 hours of volunteer time. In addition, student volunteers will receive a Certificate of Merit to be awarded at the awards assembly in June.

Claus Dengler, Andover High's Resource Coordinator and director of ASVP, feels that the students volunteering not only make a contribution to the group with which they are working, but also receive a great deal in return. They learn how an institution functions, gain ideas about careers, build up self-esteem and develop basic skills such as effective communication. Thus, Andover High School students who give time and talent to this program are gaining much in return.

AHS Notebook

By Laurie Lewis

A collective sigh of relief was heard 'round the school on Friday, Oct. 17. The high school evaluation had come to an end, but do not get the wrong impression; we really enjoyed it, but the work is far from over.

On Oct. 15, 16 and 17, 26 evaluators from various schools around New England were touring the school, asking questions, and poking their heads into classrooms. The goal of this group was to judge the school in terms of what it is striving to achieve in relation to the school philosophy. The evaluators did this by investigating every aspect of the school, including the academic courses, extra-curricular activities, building, and so forth.

Generally, the administration and staff were very pleased with the tone of the evaluators and the caliber of the evaluatees. The group, headed by David Rosengard,

Pack 77 Holds Halloween Party

Cub Scout Pack 77 celebrated Halloween a few days early at their October meeting at the West Parish Church, Andover. The evening featured the telling of a ghost story and was enlivened by the expected antics of the "Halloween Gorilla."

The boys, dressed in their Halloween costumes, enjoyed apple bobbong, Pin the Stem on the Pumpkin, and relay races. Refreshments, made by the boys' mothers were served at the end of the evening.

The Pack is looking forward to its first meeting on Nov. 3.

and assisted by John Pierce were extremely cooperative and pleasant.

The overall feeling of the evaluation is a positive one. The visitors commented on the fine caliber of staff members with appropriate professional and educational backgrounds, and commended the teachers for their well-prepared classes.

But perhaps the most outstanding aspect of the outsider's opinions, was their feelings towards the students of Andover High School. Vice-principal Wilbur Hixon beamed with pride as he stated, "The overriding comment of the evaluating staff was what a polite, well-behaved, friendly, group of students we have. We, as a high school staff, are proud of this observation, and the community of Andover should also feel proud."

At the moment we have no inkling as to what the outcome of the evaluation will be, but we will soon. Within the next week, a preliminary report citing recommendations and commendations in each area explored will be given to Will Hixon to review. Hixon is given the right to argue any point which he does not feel is fair. After discussing any discrepancies, if both parties agree it is not fair, then that point will be eliminated from the report. If the problem cannot be ironed out, then a member of the New England Council will mediate the discussion, and a decision will be reached.

Then the evaluation will be collated into final form and sent to the New England Council which will meet and decide on the length of Andover High School's accreditation. They will gather both in December and March; therefore, we should know the outcome by April at the latest.

CARPENTRY AND HOME IMPROVEMENTS

East Junior High Happenings

By Leigh Cypres

From Oct. 22 until 26, the Commonwealth Pier Exhibition was alive with the sights, sounds and aromas of the "Whole World Celebration." Over 50 ethnic groups or nationalities were represented, including 82 East Junior High seventh, eighth and ninth graders, all members of Michael Byrne's Latin and Humanities classes and Ms. Katherine Horne's Social Studies classes.

The most popular area, by far, was the International Foods Pavilion where one could snack in Ceylon, have lunch in Germany, and dessert in Greece. The entertainment pavilion featured a continuous showing of magic, music, folk singing and dancing. Many booths were open for business selling wares from the various countries and there were several student-participation activities ranging from a lesson in Greek dancing to a class on how to make boomerangs.

On Oct. 22 and 23 all students at East Junior High were given the opportunity to register to vote in a mock election that will be held in school on Nov. 3. On these two days students had to go out of their way to register to vote since they could only register during their lunch hour and this meant giving up some of their recess time.

The results were as follows: for the entire school population 73 percent of all students went out of their way to register. Sixty-six percent of all seventh grade students registered with homeroom 207 leading the way with 85 percent of the 26 students registering. In the eighth grade 69 percent of all students registered with homeroom 509 registering 84 percent of its eligible voters. In the ninth grade, 84 percent of the students registered with 100 percent of the 31 students in homeroom 309 registering.

Those registered students will be casting their ballots for President, representative from the 5th Congressional District and Referendum Question 2 next Monday during their social studies classes.

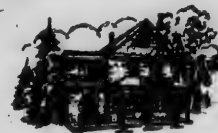

The eighth grad soccer team, in its last homegame, beat Pelham by a score of 7-2. Mark Paskowsky had two goals, James Marocco had two goals and John Drake had one goal and two assists. Jim Park had three assists and David Casanave and John Recesso each scored a goal.

The final game of the season will be played tomorrow at West Junior High.

Extra Help For Andover Students

Title I classes servicing approximately 100 students in five elementary schools began on Monday, Oct. 20, for the fifth consecutive year.

This year's program was introduced to Andover parents at a meeting held at the West Elementary school on Wednesday, Oct. 22. Theresa Murphy, Title I Director, summarized the 1980-81 program and introduced Kalister (Kay) M. Green, Regional Title I Supervisor.

Ms. Green in her talk to parents stressed the importance of parental involvement in Title I, a federal aid to education program. She recounted her own experiences - first as a Title I parent, then as a volunteer, aide and teacher - which led to her present supervisory position. Her plea for local parent involvement, supported by evidence of the benefits to be derived from local parent participation, stimulated parents' interest.

Mrs. Murphy wishes to invite those Title I parents who were unable to attend this meeting to contact her regarding parent involvement in the Title I Parent Advisory Council.

Studying In London

Anthony Frank, son of Francis and Helene Frank of 9 Stratford Rd., Andover, is participating in Colgate University's fall study group in London, England.

The focus of the group stresses 20th Century British History. The students will hear lectures by British scholars and public figures. They will interview the leaders in government and business and sit in on conference sessions with various civic and political agencies.

The group is led by Charles S. Blackton, Russell Colgate professor of history.

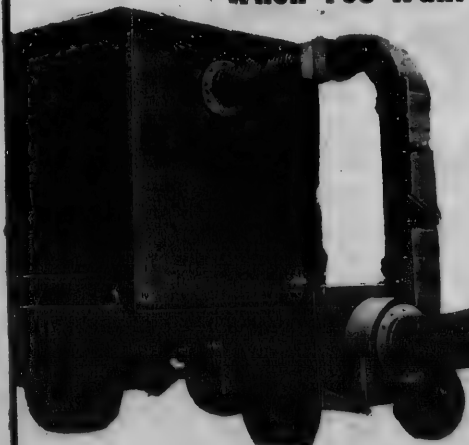

Frank is a graduate of Andover High School. He is a member of Colgate's class of 1982 and is concentrating in history.

A.F. ROTC Scholarships Available

High school seniors who are interested in beginning their college careers with Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps Four-Year College Scholarships should apply this fall according to Col. Hugh D. McCracken, Jr., Air Force ROTC Registrar.

Applications for four-year scholarships starting in the 1981-82 academic year must be submitted to Air Force ROTC headquarters at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala. by Jan. 15, 1981.

About 1,560 college freshmen are starting their college classes tuition-free this fall as members of Air Force ROTC. A four-year scholarship provides for payment of full tuition, books and most fees, plus a $100 monthly stipend during the academic year.

According to Col. McCracken, students interested in Air Force ROTC scholarships should contact their high school guidance counselors or the professor of aerospace studies at a local college or university hosting Air Force ROTC, or they can write to the Office of Public Affairs, Air Force ROTC, Maxwell AFB, Ala., 36112.

The minimum SAT scores required for a scholarship application are 500 in mathematics and a composite score, mathematics and verbal together, of 1000. For the ACT, the minimum score in mathematics is 19 and the composite score is 22.

Along with aptitude test scores, other factors such as high school academic records and extracurricular activities are considered by a board of senior Air Force ROTC officers who choose the scholarship designees from the applicants.

Dartmouth Club Meets

The Merrimack Valley Club of the Dartmouth Alumni Association of Eastern Massachusetts has scheduled a talk by Alfred Quirk, director of admissions at Dartmouth College, for Nov. 6, at 8 p.m. at the Sheraton Rolling Green in Andover.

Quirk will discuss the current admissions scene at Dartmouth and the outlook for the future. Afterwards, he will answer questions from the audience. The meeting is open to the general public at no charge.

Those planning to attend, should notify Andrew A. Caffrey, Jr., at P.O. Box 481, Andover.

Even without a four-year scholarship, a student can gain much by electing Air Force ROTC as part of an academic plan. Air Force ROTC also offers scholarships in increments of three and one-half, three, two and one-half, and two years. To be eligible for these scholarships, students must be members of the Air Force ROTC program, according to Col. McCracken. College freshmen can register for the Four-Year Program the same way as they do for any other college class.

Air Force ROTC programs are available on 143 college and university campuses in the United States, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. In addition, students from about 500 neighboring schools may take Air Force ROTC through cross-enrollment agreements that may provide for transfer of academic credit.

Air Force ROTC's academic courses, normally taken for elective credit, deal with Air Force history, air power development, management and leadership, and national security.

Upon completion of degree requirements and the Air Force ROTC program, students are commissioned as second lieutenants in the U. S. Air Force with a minimum four-year active duty commitment. For pilot and navigator candidates, the commitment is six and five years respectively after receiving their aeronautical rating.

The Air Force also offers graduate and specialty education programs for qualified officers. For example, the Air Force Institute of Technology provides eligible officers with education and training opportunities leading to advanced engineering and scientific degrees.

Students Welcomed

Yu Jingbo, Chang Ye-hong and Liu Xiao-Kun, students at Phillips Academy and recently arrived from China, are shown with Alexander Warren and Mrs. Alberta Stammers of Andover, at library reception, eighteen foreign students were welcomed to the Andover community last Thursday at the Foreign Students Reception co-hosted by Memorial Hall Library and the local chapters of American Field Service. The contribution to world peace resulting from international student exchanges was the theme of the evening.

Western Roundup

THE TOWNSMAN, OCTOBER 30, 1980

Ellen Byrne, Mary Driscoll, Kathy Mulvey

We started the West Junior High year off with the Student Council elections. For two weeks everywhere you looked were posters sporting cute rhymes and catchy phrases about the candidates. Apparently some were more memorable than others but it was a fierce battle up until voting day.

The victors were President Maura King, Vice-president Amy Moynihan, Secretary Spiro Christopoulos and Treasurer Jeff Kennedy. We expect a great year.

Friday, Oct. 17, WJH had its first pep rally of the year. Everyone participated and had a great time. Entertaining the students and faculty were the freshman football cheerleaders, the eighth grade cheerleaders and the pep club. The girls that make up this year's ninth grade cheerleading squad are Cheryl Lasota, Holly Dickinson, Brenda Craig, Jessica Ruben (co-captain), Kally Cutler, MaryBeth Gilmartin (co-captain), Tina Sutton, Laurel Brody, Karen Santigati, Mary Jo Hunter and alternates Alyssa McCabe and Wendy Batten.

Unfortunately, after the super pep rally the freshman football team was defeated by our crosstown rivals at East Junior High, with a score of 0-14.

Friday, Oct. 24, our girls' field hockey team had their first win against Dracut with a score of 2-0. The goals were made by Mary Oppel and Judy MacDonald.

Our soccer team started out rather slowly but gradually became fierce competitors on the soccer field.

The eighth grade soccer and football teams are having great seasons so far with only one loss apiece. Cheering on the football team are AnneMarie Conron, Betsy White, Ann Plamonden, Jean Kelly, Nancy Butler, Ellen Enos, Chrissy Foden, Beth Shcallop, Laurie Frenzies and Deanna Abrahamson.

So far things have been going well in all aspects and we expect our motto, "Excellence in Everything" will be a reflection of the 1980-81 school year.

Revalue Workers Received Well

By Sue Aucella Deacon

A dark-haired young woman with pencil in hand walks through the basement of a Porter Road home as the woman of the house looks on. The young woman pokes her head into one doorway, then walks through the next room.

"This is a closet?" she asks, jotting notes on a large yellow card as the homeowner nods yes.

The young woman notes that the basement is carpeted and has a fireplace, before heading upstairs.

"I've just gotten home and I haven't had time to do the housekeeping," the homeowner says ruefully, looking around the living room.

"Well, I'd hate for you to see my place," the woman replies. "You have oil heat?"

Minutes later, after a brief inspection of a backyard tennis court, the young woman thanks the homeowner and leaves.

She is Tammy Sheldon, a data collector with P.R.C. Jacobs, Inc., the firm that is conducting the revaluation process for Andover. And she has just finished collecting information at the home of William and Margie Ballou, one of nearly 5,000 Andover homes that will be examined by the end of December.

Data collectors do not attempt to place a value on a home when they look at it, explains Eugene Tworek, project supervisor for P.R.C. Jacobs. They simply gather objective information as one step in a three-part process that will be finished by Aug. 1, 1981.

Most of the 351 cities and towns in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts are now in the process of revaluation, since the Supreme Judicial Court has reiterated that all communities must value their property at "full and fair cash value" — which translates into 100 percent valuation.

Andover property has not been revalued since 1967, says Tworek during a conversation at his town hall office. "Time changes the market. Values are always in a state of flux. And in recent history," he points out, "they have increased rather dramatically. In some cases, the value of a home today could be considerably different than it was one year ago."

The town has contracted with P.R.C. Jacobs to estimate the current value of all residential, commercial, and industrial property in Andover. Tworek explains that this will be accomplished in three major steps.

The first phase, property identification, was completed last month. It consisted of learning where properties are located, who owns them, how big they are, and whether the include buildings.

The second phase, data collection, is now underway. Nine data collectors, along with two field supervisors and crew leaders — including supervisor Tammy Sheldon — visit properties to develop an inventory of "parcel characteristics."

The characteristics they look for include whether the property is commercial, industrial or residential, and whether it is vacant or occupied.

The collectors visit a home to determine, from the outside, its dimensions, number of stories, approximate age, style, and condition (does it need a paint job? are the shingles falling off?).

With the owner's permission, the collectors then walk through each house to record such information as the number of bedrooms and bathrooms, type of heating and plumbing, whether basements and attics are finished, and the number of fireplaces.

The third phase, which will begin in late December, is the actual valuation of properties. "This is an analytical process based on the (real estate) market in the preceding three years, as of Jan. 1, 1981," Tworek explains.

To estimate current values, the P.R.C. Jacobs people will compare properties sold during the last three years to "unsold" properties. "In effect, we will do what everyone does when they buy a house — look at other, similar properties for sale to determine if the asking price is fair. But we look at sold properties on a massive scale."

The revaluators "don't make the market," Tworek emphasizes. "We do not set capricious figures. They are substantiated by the buyers and sellers in the market."

For example, the revaluators will look at the price recently paid for a house similar to yours — but they will note that the sold house has a two-car garage, while yours has a one-car garage, and make the necessary adjustment in value.

"That's why it's important for us to have good information," says Tworek. "We have to know what we're comparing. And if we don't have good information, we could end up with values that may indicate more than what is really there."

Once P.R.C. Jacobs has completed its analysis and set values, probably by June, the company will submit the estimated values to the state for certification. If the state, after its own analysis, certifies the company's figures, then the results must be approved by the town's Board of Assessors.

That is the final step before P.R.C. Jacobs can mail out notification of the new values to property owners. And if, after reading that notice, an owner has "strong feelings that the new value is wrong, there is an established appeal process," Tworek says.

Owners may meet with P.R.C. Jacobs representatives for informal discussions; if that does not satisfy the owners, they can proceed to the assessors and, finally, to the state Appellate Tax Board.

Tworek seems pleased with the cooperation his data collectors have received from Andover homeowners to date: Out of 4,822 residents contacted as of last Friday, fewer than 36 have refused to let the data collectors inside. The collection process has been completed for 3,200 homes, he adds.

"People here seem very aware of what we're doing," says Tworek. "Some of them are curious or puzzled, or want to know more about what's going on. But they are informed — even if they don't approve of what we're doing."

The data collectors will not press the issue if homeowners refuse to let them inside. "We respect the rights of ownership and privacy," says Tworek. "But that does not make the problem go away — we still have a contractual obligation to the town. It just makes our job more difficult."

If refused entry, the collectors will note information about the exterior of the house and guess at interior information from the street, he says. "We don't try to make a mansion out of a shack, but we include all possible features it may have. We have to make an estimate. If there is a chimney, then we know there's a fireplace. We guess the number of bedrooms, and so forth."

Tworek believes that homeowners who have refused entry to data collectors and later decide to appeal resulting valuations may find themselves in "a shaky position" with the Appellate Tax Board. "I've been told the Board tends to look unfavorably on someone appealing in that case," he says.

If no one is home on a data collector's first visit to a house, the collector will measure the outside dimensions and estimate the interior characteristics.

If no one responds to the data collector's knock on a second visit, the collector will leave a pink card hanging on the doorknob, which asks the resident to call for an appointment.

Saturday appointments can be arranged when necessary, although Tworek notes that their schedules are usually quite crowded on Saturdays.

Currently, 1,622 homes need to be visited for a second time or are awaiting appointments, Tworek says.

Tammy Sheldon drove along Porter Road one afternoon this week to follow up on work done earlier by the data collectors she supervises, and to "grade" houses.

"My main job is to grade," she explains. "I look at the effective age of the house — for instance, an older home could be graded at a younger age if it has been renovated — and at the condition — whether it's been painted, how the roof is."

Sheldon also notes the "quality of construction," which includes "craftsmanship, design, the type of glass and wood used. Newer homes are not necessarily of better quality," she observes. "There are a lot of older homes here that are gorgeous, because a lot of work has been done on them."

At one home, Sheldon notices that the data collector has failed to record a small patio on one side of the house. She measures the patio, but not before knocking on the door to tell the owner who she is and what she's doing.

Nutcracker Performance Scheduled

The magic of Tchaikovsky's ballet The Nutcracker will enhance the holiday season for North Shore Philharmonic Orchestra subscribers as the Boston Repertory Ballet joins the orchestra for the opening of its 33rd season on Dec. 7 at Lynn City Hall Auditorium. The orchestra's series of three concerts will continue at Salem High School Auditorium on Feb. 22 with baritone David Ripley as soloist, and conclude on May 3 with Roberta Marvin, flute, and Fred Moyer, piano, as soloists.

The 1980-81 season will be seventh in the tenure of the North Shore Philharmonic's music director Max Hobart. During that period he has guided the group to new heights of artistic achievement, earning critical acclaim. The orchestra is made up of professional musicians, conservatory students, teachers and talented amateurs representing 33 cities and towns in the North Shore and Greater Boston areas. Since its founding shortly after World War II, the orchestra has served as a symphonic platform attracting fine soloists, and performers from the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Information concerning subscriptions is available from Mrs. Clarisse Wahl, 109 Broad Street, Lynn 01902. The North Shore Philharmonic's concerts are made possible with support from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities.

What health care costs do to inflation would make you sick.

Hospital costs are a major factor in inflation. And they're increasing at 14% a year. They'll go to $384 billion by 1984 unless they're controlled.

Nick Mavroules supports a plan which features hospital cost containment and will put a cap on federal health care spending to control inflation. This could reduce the federal deficit $17 billion in the next three years. Nick's plan will provide quality, affordable health care to every American through a comprehensive national health insurance program.

This program involves the medical profession, the private insurance sector and the government.

Nick believes that everyone is entitled to decent health care and relief from inflation. That's why he's offering a sensible cure for hospital costs. And it's strong medicine against inflation.

Buell Opposes Prop 2½

State Senator Robert C. Buell (R-First Essex & Middlesex), while campaigning through the district for re-election, recently discussed his views on Proposition 2½, which will appear on all Massachusetts ballots on November 4, 1980, as Question 2. Proposed by the Citizens for Limited Taxation, Proposition 2½ would limit local property and auto excise taxes and modify current laws relating to the adoption of school budgets and compulsory binding arbitration.

"During my years as a State Representative and now as State Senator, I have consistently supported reducing the heavy property tax burden that we have here in the Commonwealth," said Buell. "I have also been a strong advocate for fiscal responsibility and economy at all levels of government," he stated. Acting on these two concerns, Senator Buell explained, he co-sponsored in 1978 a measure that would have limited property taxes to 2.5% of assessed valuation.

Despite his co-sponsorship of this tax limitation measure, Senator Buell stated that as a legislator, he cannot support Proposition 2½ which, he explained, differs quite substantially from his original bill. "The tax limitation proposal which will be on the November ballot is just a too drastic and simplistic attempt at reducing taxes," said the Senator. "Some of its provisions, while well-intentioned, are just unworkable," he said.

Buell outlined the differences between Proposition 2½ and the bill which he had co-sponsored. "First of all, Proposition 2½ would cut auto excise taxes from $86 to $25 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, and our measure would not have done that," he said. "This reduction in the motor vehicle excise tax rate, taken on top of the 2.5% property tax rollback we had suggested, represents too great a loss of revenue for our communities," said the Senator. Buell cited as example the effect the auto excise tax rate reduction would have on a few of the municipalities in his district. "With this rate reduction, during the first year of implementation of Proposition 2½, the Town of Reading would stand to lose an additional $569,780 beyond the revenue it would lose with the property tax limitation," he said. "Gloucester would lose an additional $671,525 and Wilmington $647,805," he added. "cuts that were not called for by our bill."

As a second difference between the measure he sponsored and Proposition 2½, Buell mentioned that the old plan did not include the 50% rent deduction on state income taxes that has been proposed by the Committee for Limited Taxation. He predicted that the state would have to hire an extra 400 auditors to check returns to make such a cut effective.

Pointing out yet another difference between the two measures, Senator Buell said, "Proposition 2½ would repeal fiscal autonomy in public education. The bill I co-sponsored, on the other hand, would have provided that by a two-thirds vote of a city council or town meeting, a school committee's budget could be overridden, although I would have preferred a four-fifths vote requirement."

Finally, the Senator said that whereas Proposition 2½ would require a two-thirds vote in a general election to override the limitation on property tax increases, he would want the override vote to take place at a town meeting or city council meeting.

Senator Buell concluded, "Because of these problems which I see with Proposition 2½, I cannot say that if legislation containing its provisions came up for a vote in the Senate, I, as your State Senator, would support it. In fact, I would have to vote against it. At the same time, I remain totally committed to reducing the overwhelming tax burden faced by the citizens of our Commonwealth and to cutting waste in government, and I will work in the Senate to see that these goals are achieved."

In finishing, the Senator said, "it is important to mention that regardless of whether or not Proposition 2½ is passed by the voters, when the Legislature convenes in January, it will be considering a variety of tax-related measures. To be candid with you, if Proposition 2½ passes, it is more likely that my colleagues will heed the message. On that basis only — to send a message to the members of the Legislature who have hedged on placing a ceiling on state spending — I plan, as a private citizen, to vote yes on Question 2. I will then work to achieve passage of a workable spending limitation measure."

Programs Set For Early Childhood

Appointments are being made for November for any Andover child three or four years old, whose parents would like a developmental screening in vision, hearing, speech, language and motor areas. Contact the Early Childhood Department at Andover Schools. The clinic will be held monthly. Also, the Early Childhood Department would be happy to speak with parent groups regarding the identification of at-risk children, available early intervention programs, and the readiness curriculum in Andover schools.

Parent/Teacher Early Childhood Workshops for nursery through grade three are scheduled for Nov. 18, Tuesday, 3:30-5 p.m., Bancroft school gym - Daryl Arsenault, Donna Giuffre and David Nichols present: activities from their new book Motor Activities for the Underachiever.

Dec. 9, Tuesday, 3:30-5 p.m., West Elementary auditorium - Dr. Bruce Mallory, assistant professor of Early Childhood, University of New Hampshire. "Prevention not Remediation in the Early Years".

Feb. 10, Tuesday, 3:30-5 p.m., West Elementary auditorium - Andover speech and language clinicians: "A Speech and Language Testing/Therapy Demonstration."

Essex Broadway Savings Bank is now called

SAVINGS

And that calls for a celebration!

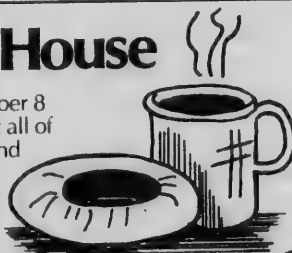

Since 1847, Essex Broadway Savings Bank has always enjoyed a close friendship with the many communities we serve—helping, sharing, growing, looking to the future. And as we've grown, so have our services. In fact, today we're the first bank more and more Greater Lawrence residents turn to for their financial needs. That's why we're changing our name to First Essex Savings Bank. Naturally, behind our new name stands a proud Essex Broadway tradition. At First Essex, our goal will continue to be the same as it was when the Bank was founded nearly six generations ago, to provide you with the best banking service available. We are simply changing our name from one which has served us well in the past to one which will serve us better in the future.

Now our change of name wouldn't be complete without a celebration. So why not join us for all the fun beginning November 1.

An Open House

From November 1 through November 8 we'll be holding an Open House at all of our offices. There'll be free coffee and doughnuts for everyone. Stop in to see the new First Essex Savings look and experience the new First Essex Savings spirit.

A First Essex Savings Sweepstakes

Our new name could mean a trip to Bermuda for you. That's only one of the fantastic prizes up for grabs in our Name Change Sweepstakes. Here are the others.

1st Prize—5 days and 4 nights in Bermuda for 2

2nd Prize—19" GE color portable television

3rd Prize—13" GE color portable television

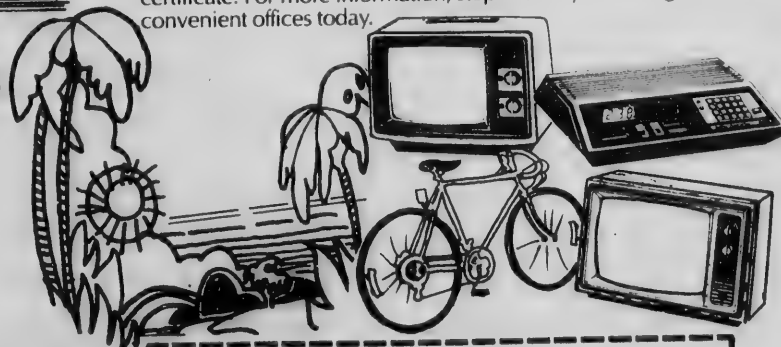

4th Prize—Man's or woman's Schwinn 10-speed bicycle

5th Prize—GE programmable clock radio-deluxe model

To be eligible to win, simply fill out the attached sweepstakes coupon or register at any of our eight offices between November 1 and November 14. On November 17 at noon, all prize drawing entry blanks from all First Essex offices will be put into a barrel in the lobby of the main office and five prize winners will be drawn. The first entry blank drawn will be the Grand Prize vacation winner. Celebration winners will be informed by mail and need not be present in order to win. Winners names will be posted in each First Essex office on November 18, 1980. The vacation may be taken anytime before March 1, 1981.

Philharmonic Season To Open

The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra will open its 1980-81 season with an all-Beethoven concert on Nov. 9 at 3:30 p.m. in the Andover West Junior High School Auditorium, Shawsheen Road, Andover.

The featured work will be Piano Concerto No. 4 in G Major, Opus 58, with the internationally-acclaimed keyboard virtuoso, John Buttrick, as soloist.

A native of Philadelphia, Buttrick studied with Isador Philipp, Rudolf Serkin and Beveridge Webster. A prize-winning graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, he spent his summers at the Marlboro Festival. His extensive concert activities have included not only regular domestic appearances in leading music centers but also repeated annual tours of major musical capitals of Europe and the Middle East, where he has won accolades for his technical mastery and powerful gift of musical communication. He is also a recording artist of note, having committed to permanent form numerous works of Mozart, Liszt and Chopin. Presently, Buttrick is a member of the faculty of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he has served as music chairman from 1972 to 1976.

The program will open with the dramatic Egmont Overture, Opus 84 from Beethoven's incidental music to Goethe's tragedy and, following the concerto and intermission, the Philharmonic will perform Symphony No. 8 in F Major, Opus 93.

Subscription orders are now being accepted for this, the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic's 20th Anniversary Season, which will encompass an expanded five-concert series, including the opening all-Beethoven event.

On Sunday afternoon, Dec. 7, St. Lucy's Church, 254 Merrimack Street, Methuen, will be the setting for a Pre-Christmas Concert, comprised of orchestral pieces of symphonic and operatic nature as well as music appropriate to the Yuletide season, all designed to take full advantage of the noteworthy "live" acoustics of St. Lucy's.

For the 1981 phase of the series, three concerts will take place at the Andover West Junior High School Auditorium, beginning on March 1 with How The Orchestra Grew including an exposition by the conductor describing the development of the symphony orchestra from its early beginnings to its ultimate make-up as we know it today.

On April 12 the Popular Favorites Concert will take the form of a concert hall style "Pops," devoted predominately to lighter classics, and featuring Saint-Saens ingratiating Carnival Of The Animals, with Kelley and Tanguay, Duo Pianists.

A final Philharmonic Festival Concert on May 17 will celebrate the Philharmonic's 20th anniversary as the Merrimack Valley's own symphony orchestra, with major symphonic works of the type that has been most enthusiastically received by the Philharmonic's audiences over the years.

With this series, Nicholas Van Slyck enters his 14th season as music director and conductor of the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra.

Brochures announcing and describing in detail the Philharmonic's programs for the approaching season are currently being mailed with invitations to participate in the concert series and aid the society further in its objective of community advancement. Season tickets are available now and admission for individual concerts will be on sale at the door on those particular dates. Music lovers who wish to support the Philharmonic's performance of fine music in the Merrimack Valley may obtain brochures and subscription ordering materials by addressing the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Society, Inc., P. O. Box 410, Andover, Mass. 01810, or by contacting individual members of the Society.

Silent Auction Scheduled

All is in readiness for St. Augustine's School's silent auction, Thursday, Nov. 6, at 7 p.m. in the school hall.

Hundreds of items, hand-crafted articles, gifts, art work, large and small, are now being gathered and will be on display at the beginning of the auction. Slips of paper are placed in front of each item and one may bid by writing his name and the amount of the bid.

The fun begins when the auctioneer says "Table A will be auctioned off in five minutes." He sets a timer and those who are interested in the items on table A vie for the chance to make their bid the final one on the paper before the bell sounds.

Many treasures are taken home, and many bargains are won, too.

Besides the auction, there is a country store with preserves, baked goods, chocolate lollipops, canned goods, and many other delicacies for sale.

There are prizes to be awarded during the course of the evening.

Chairmen for the event are Maxine Grogan and Marcia Nix.

Sondheim Play At Berklee

Exciting chases, scintillating double entendre and memorable songs will fill the Berklee Performance Center on November 12 and 13 at 8:15 p.m. when Berklee presents a sparkling new production of Stephen Sondheim's tony Award Winning musical comedy "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum."

OPEN LETTER

To: The Residents of Andover
From: Wynwood Associates, Inc.

It is nearly twenty years since our company began building in the Town of Andover. During that period we have designed and created hundreds of distinctive homes, resulting in such areas as Carriage Hill, Carriage Chase and Blueberry Hill. We feel that our type of building has helped to contribute to the prestigious image which Andover has enjoyed for many years. It is our desire to continue to build here; therefore, we sincerely share your concern regarding what is best for the town.

Within the past two years, we at Wynwood have been approached by a number of responsible Andover residents requesting that we seriously consider a different concept of housing; one which they felt was sorely needed in this community. Changing life-style had created a need for a change in housing, and many long-time citizens of Andover were being faced with having to leave the town due to the lack of facilities to accommodate their new needs.

Other communities have found themselves with the same problem, and a number of them have faced the challenge by meeting those requirements without sacrificing the quality and esthetic values they deemed important in their existing residential areas.

Of particular note is the town of Lexington. There Mark Moore, for many years a highly respected builder of lovely colonial homes, demonstrated that a well-planned, well-designed community of Cluster Homes could be successfully integrated with the village-type mode of living in a town which is vitally concerned with it's national heritage.

We would like to bring to Andover Mark Moore's Cluster Home concept, which has won national acclaim as well as enthusiastic approval by the people of Lexington. We at Wynwood are confident that the construction of our "Baker Village" would create a community which could be nothing less than a credit to the town of Andover.

In our numerous contacts with Andover people, the reception for the most part has been favorable; still there are some concerns. The fact that the amendment is difficult to understand complicates the situation. Therefore we would like to state it in the most basic language.

It addresses a question brought up by all of us. "How much control is there in the use of this proposed zone?" This bylaw would require that anyone wishing to rezone a parcel of land, must present, for approval at town meeting, a site development plan with the request for rezoning. After obtaining town meeting approval application is made to the planning board for a special permit to develop this tract conforming to the plan submitted to the town meeting. This gives this town meeting control over the use of each site submitted and the planning board control of development, assuring that what is built conforms to the plan presented.

As you know, a Public Hearing regarding this amendment is scheduled for Wednesday, November 5. We sincerely request the attendance of each responsible citizen of Andover at this meeting. We ask you to use this opportunity to give us your input.

It is our hope that the meeting will be a constructive one, so that at the Special Town Meeting on Thursday, November 20, you will vote to have us begin construction of a Cluster Home concept which will be not only beneficial to the town, but one in which the town of Andover will take pride for many years to come.

Voter Information Available

Are you still unsure how to vote on the referendum questions? Records and large print booklets, summarizing the referendum questions on the Nov. 4 ballot, are available at Memorial Hall Library for citizens with visual handicaps. In addition, the library has handouts of the 1980 "Information for Voters," the League of Women Voters' "Voters' Guides," and the Andover Coalition's brochure on Proposition 2½.

Born Free

"Born free," the touching tale of Elsa, the lion cub, will be the next feature of the Family Film Festival at Memorial Hall Library on Friday, Oct. 31 at 7:30 p.m. Bill Travers and Virginia McKenna star as the game warden and his wife who retrain Elsa to fend for herself in the Kenya jungle after being raised as a pet. Children seven years and older are welcome to attend when accompanied by an adult. Films in this series have been provided, in part, by the Eastern Mass. Regional Library system and are open to the public without charge.

Contemporary Architects

Or the first time ever, information on the world's foremost contemporary architects is available in "Contemporary Architects," a new addition to the reference collection at Memorial Hall Library. Edited by Muriel Emanuel, this volume provides detailed information on 600 architects of international reputation and includes biographical sketches, lists of projects and representative illustrations of their works. It is an essential reference source for anyone interested in the dynamic and often controversial world of architecture.

Children's Room News By Bridget Bennett

Beginning this Saturday, Nov. 1, the Children's Room will be presenting Saturday afternoon films for elementary school age children. "The Monster of Highgate Pond" and "The Beast of Monsieur Racine" will be our first offering and the program, which is free of charge, will begin at 2 p.m.

For preschoolers, our Films-on-Friday for Oct. 31 will be on the Halloween theme, as our three movies will be "Happy Owls," "Night's Nice," and "Most Marvelous Cat." As usual, the program will be presented at 10:30 a.m. and again at 2 p.m.

THE TOWNSMAN, OCTOBER 30, 1980

The Franciscan Friars of St. Francis Seminary and Christian Formation Center, River Road, Andover, will celebrate 50 years of establishment and service in the Merrimack Valley area, with a solemn concelebrated Mass of Thanksgiving, followed by a buffet supper Sunday, Nov. 30, beginning at 6 p.m.

It was in October of 1930 that the late William Cardinal O'Connell blessed and dedicated St. Francis Seraphic Seminary.

which functioned as a high school until June of 1977. For many of those years, it also served as the Theologate of the Franciscan Province of the Immaculate Conception.

Local residents will recall the Christmas display of lighting that from 1933 to 1964 attracted hundreds of thousands of viewers.

Many of the Franciscan Friars who studied at St. Francis Seminary and then went on to various assignments throughout the Province are buried in the Friars' Cemetery on the Andover grounds.

The Franciscans are inviting all former students and their families and all who have been Friends of the Franciscan Friars throughout the years to join in the celebration.

Living members of the former Seminary Guild and Auxiliary are asked to contact Fr. Ernest D'Onofrio, O.F.M., who founded both units.

Friends and benefactors who expect to remain for the buffet supper are asked to contact Fr. John Baptist Frisoli, O.F.M. (St. Francis Friary, 459 River Road, Andover, MA. 01810 by Nov. 18.

Van Donated To Mission

Dungan and youth group members Ginny MacDonald and Leslie Palmer look on. The presentation was celebrated with a dinner at the church last week.

Youths Provide Van For Mission

By June Shattuck

One year ago this month, a picture of a bus load of Jamaican deaf children on a once a year trip to the beach inspired the start of the Jamaican Van Fund at the Andover Baptist Church.

The picture was one of the slides in the Rev. Bruce Dungan's presentation during last year's Missionary Weekend at the local church, telling the story of the mission of the Caribbean Christian Centre For The Deaf.

The school is located in Mandeville, Jamaica, only about 50 miles from the coast. So, why (the young people watching the slides especially wanted to know) could the children go to the beach only once a year? The answer was simply a lack of transportation, and funds available could manage only an annual excursion by charter bus.

"Would a van help?" asked Amy Stevenson, a member of the church's Youth group.

The answer was yes, for together with one van and a car already at the centre, another van would certainly make more field trips possible.

Amy believed it could be done and so, the van project began. The first responses to the young people's plans were often comments like "Oh, yes, it would be nice to buy a van for the Centre For the Deaf, but how are you going to raise all that money?" or "That's much too big a project for a small group." etc.

However, the young people persevered and, inspired by Amy's faith and determination, they held a jog-a-thon, bake sales, candy sales, suppers and a fashion show to raise money for the van.

Others in the church began to designate missionary contributions for the van fund also, and in less than one year, thanks to the vision and faith of the young people believing that with God's help all things are possible, enough money was raised to buy a used Volkswagen Van for the Caribbean Christian Centre For The Deaf.

A Volkswagen had been requested because an assistant at the centre was a former Volkswagen mechanic,

To Observe Feast Day At St. Robert's

All Saints' Day will be celebrated at St. Robert's Church in Andover with special Masses on Friday and Saturday. The 5 o'clock mass on Halloween welcomes the children in their costumes to be primary participants. To supplement the Druid tradition of warding off the evil spirits, the Christian observance of All Hallows Eve will emphasize the good spirits of the Saints.

On Nov. 1, the feast day, a 12 o'clock noon Mass has been added, since the regular Sunday observance precludes Saturday evening All Saints Masses.

The complete Holy Day Mass scheduled at St. Robert's is 5 and 7 p.m. on Oct. 31 and 9 a.m. and 12 noon on Nov. 1. Not only does the day honor all of the well-known saints, but also loved friends who have died. The observance of this same theme will continue through the month of Nov at St. Robert's.

Annual Bazaar At St. Paul's

St. Paul's Episcopal Church is having its annual bazaar on Nov. 8, at 390 Main St., North Andover. It will begin at 10 a.m. and continue till 7 p.m.

This year's bazaar features the following tables: bakery, candy, white elephant, books, crafts, plants, Christmas decorations, knits, country store and the raffle table. The annual roast beef dinner will be held. Tickets are still available. From Doris McGibbons, Reservations must be made.

Roast Beef Buffet Set For Vale Church

It is almost a year since local residents enjoyed the hospitality and "night out" at the Candlelight Buffet at the Ballardvale United Church. The event is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 8.

In prior years the buffet had followed the annual fair. However, this year the church fair will be held Dec. 5 and 6, and the roast beef buffet has been scheduled in November, so as not to interfere with Christmas parties.

The menu will consist of roast beef, swedish meat balls, oven broiled potatoes, corn and peas O'Brien, glazed carrots, jellied salads, rolls, assorted pies and coffee.

There will be a choice of time for dining, either 5:15 or 7 p.m.

Ruth Mattheson is in charge of planning and buying and the food preparation will be under the direction of Joyce Robinson, Helen Webb, Barbar Itz and Ruth Mattheson. Judith Webb is the accountant; Arnold Itz is in charge of the dining room, the men waiters and the "chefs" who carve the meat according to one's preference. Doris Smith will handle the tickets and Grace Nicoll is handling the advertising.

Reservations should be made before Nov. 5, if possible. Contact Mrs. James Letters on Tewksbury Street, the church office, or any committee member for reservations. The church is located on Clark Road, Andover.

Crafts Fair Saturday At Church

A large attendance is expected at the Crafts Fair to be held Saturday, November 1, at the West Parish Church in Andover. The church is located on the corner of Reservation Road and Lowell Street (Route 133).

Over 50 craftspeople will be exhibiting and each table will be unique. A partial listing includes: patchwork Christmas trees, mohair stoles, pierced and stenciled lampshades, calligraphy, gold and silver jewelry, pottery, scrimshaw, quilts, dried flower arrangements, woven baskets, knitted items and wooden toys.

The Women's Evening Circle, sponsor of this event, will feature a Country Store and Bakery Table. Morning coffee and a luncheon will be served. Babysitting will be available throughout the day.

Here is an ideal chance to purchase gifts for Christmas and other occasions, plus view the creations of Merrimack Valley's finest craftspeople and artists. Many will be demonstrating their art.

Churches To Join In Celebration

On Sunday, Nov. 2 there will be an afternoon of Christian celebration for Lutherans and Roman Catholics at St. Paul's Cathedral on Tremont Street across from The Boston Common. This will be the first time that Roman Catholic and Lutheran Christians will worship together officially in eastern Massachusetts. In attendance will be His Emnence, Humberto Cardinal Medeiros, Archbishop of Boston, and Lutheran Bishops of New England.

The afternoon begins at 3 with a panel discussion of the 155 years of Lutheran/Roman Catholic Dialogues. Presenters in the panel discussion will be theologians of the Roman Catholic and Lutheran traditions who have taken part in the dialogues. At 4 will be a concert of sacred music by the Boston Archdiocesan Boys' Choir. Following the concert will be the service of Vespers (evening prayers). The afternoon will conclude with a social hour and refreshments.

The afternoon is a celebration of the faith which Lutherans and Roman Catholics hold in common. All interested people are welcomed to attend.

Mission Van

Volkswagon parts are easier to obtain in Jamaica, and the one van already owned by the centre was a Volkswagon.

Rev. and Mrs. Dungan were present to participate in last Wednesday's Family Night Program at the Andover Baptist Church and were presented with the keys to the van at that time. Accepting the keys from Amy, the Rev. Mr. Dungan expressed the deep appreciation of all the students and staff of the centre for the gift which a year ago, even they had thought was a dream that would be a much longer time fulfilling.

According to Rev. Dungan, the students at the school now number 94 deaf boys and girls. The school has both an academic program and a vocational program for older children to help them find work when they leave the centre. But first of all, the children must be taught to communicate by sign language and speech therapy. It is the goal of the school to help as many deaf children as possible and to present the Gospel to them. The gift of the van will be a valuable tool in this effort.

The van is presently undergoing some final maintenance work and then it will begin a very interesting three stage journey to reach Jamaica.

First it will be driven from Andover to Baltimore by a volunteer from the Tremont Temple Congregation. Then a member of the First Baptist Church in Baltimore will drive it to New Orleans where, through the generosity of Alpart Aluminum Co., it will be loaded onto one of their company's ships and transported to Jamaica. It will arrive at a port in Jamaica that is close enough for someone from the centre to drive it "home."

Craft Show At Lowell Museum

The Lowell Museum has scheduled a special one-day sale at the Museum Saturday, Nov. 15, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Entitled "A Show of Hands", this special event will be a sale of fine craft items all made by local craftsmen.

More than 25 well-respected craftspeople have been invited to participate. Some of the craft items that will be available for purchase include pottery, hand crafted toys, personalized memo pads, stained glass, quilted and woven items, hand smocked children's clothing, Christmas crafts and tote bags and belts. In addition, there will be an antiques table, a table of silver jewelry and a bake table, a table of miniatures, burnished copper items, hand crafted dolls, as well as a fine assortment of unusual decorations for the home.

This is the first time that the Lowell Museum has hosted such an event.

READ THIS, AND GIVE IT A GRADE

The sum of all known reverence I add up in you, whoever you are.

The people who govern are there for you, it is not you who are there for them; All architecture is what you do to it when you look upon it; All music is what awakes from you when you are reminded by the instruments.

The sun and stars that float in the open air; The apple shaped earth and we upon it; The wonder everyone sees in everyone else's/he sees, and the wonders that fill each minute of time forever:

It is for you, whoever you are — it is no farther from you than you hearing and sight are from you.

It is hinted by nearest, commonest, readiest.

We consider bibles and religions divine — I do not say they are not divine: I say they have all grown out of you, and may grow out of you still.

It is not they who give the life — it is you who give the life.

Will you seek afar off? You surely come back at last, in things best known to you, finding the best, or as good as the best —

Happiness, knowledge, not in another place, but this place — not for another hour, but this hour.

IF YOU GAVE THESE THOUGHTS A B+ or better you might find the UNITARIAN UNIVERSALIST CHURCH of interest. We UU's look at life as Walt Whitman did, and express that search through our time together on Sundays at 10:30 a.m. We're at 244 Lowell Street [Rte 133] in Andover. Summer Memories

Mrs. Kevin G. Sweeney

Sweeney - Catalano

At home in North Andover are Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Gerard Sweeney, who were married August 23 in Christ the Teacher Collegiate Chapel, Merrimack College.

The Rev. Thomas Casey of Merrimack College officiated at the 11 a.m. ceremony, before an altar decorated with two baskets of gladioli and mums. Fern and satin ribbons adorned the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza with a Queen Anne neckline, enhanced on the bodice and skirt with re-embroidered Alencon and Chantilly lace appliques. The floor-length veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a matching profile clip.

Self-Defense For Women

The Lawrence Jewish Community Center will sponsor an eight week course for women, 16 years of age and over, in practical self-defense.

The classes will meet starting on Wednesday, Nov. 5, 7:30 - 9 p.m. and Friday mornings starting Nov. 7 from 10:30 - 12 noon. The instructor is professionally trained in the art of self-defense. For further information, contact Barbara Ber- man at the Jewish Community Center.

Lisa Catalano of Andover attended her sister as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were the bride's cousins, Barbara and Cathy Catalano of North Andover, and Joyia James and Donna Yemma of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

They wore quiana gowns of burgundy with matching picture hats, and each carried a long-stemmed pink rose with baby's breath, fern and pink satin streamers.

Terence Sweeney, Jr., of Plum Island, was his brother's best man, and ushers included the bride's brother, John Catalano of Andover, the groom's brother, Sean Sweeney of Andover, the bride's cousin, Thomas Catalano of North Andover, Joseph Socha of Andover and Steven Landry of Litchfield, N.H.

The new Mrs. Sweeney, a graduate of Andover High School, attended the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and graduated from Merrimack College. She is employed by Avco in Wilmington, as an associate engineer.

Her husband, a graduate of Andover High and Merrimack College, is an electrical engineer for Andover Controls.

A reception followed at the Andover Inn, and the couple took a wedding trip to Bermuda.

Book Fair At YMCA

The Andover-North Andover YMCA is sponsoring its annual book fair to be held the week of Nov. 3 through Nov. 8. The event features all types of books for readers of all ages and offers an excellent opportunity to shop early for Christmas. Hundreds of new books are available this season which offer topics as diverse as crafts, games, sports, popular novels, and feature something for nearly every interest.

Held separately, though in conjunction with the Y's annual Christmas fair, the book fair is chaired by Susan Schwarz.

Concert

Inheritance, a refreshing new sound in Christian music, will present a concert of contemporary favorites, traditional songs, and hymns at Andover Baptist Church, 7 Central St., Andover, on Sunday, Nov. 2 at 6:30.

As they travel across America and Canada each year, this dedicated twelve member group seeks to communicate God's 'Good News' to man and share His love among the fellowship of other believers.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ammon, Jr.

Ammon-Symonevich

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ammon, Jr. are at home in Lawrence, following their Oct. 4 wedding at St. Joseph's Church in Ballardvale.

The Rev. Richard O'Leary of St. Augustine's Church officiated at the 5:30 candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the former Diana Lynn Symonevich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Symonevich of Waterville, Maine. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ammon, Sr., 141 Argilla Road, Andover.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sleeveless, empire gown with re-embroidered silk Venice lace bodice, a full chiffon skirt, and an Epolette chapel train. Her cathedral veil fell from a wreath-style headpiece, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red and white roses with green ivy and stephanotis.

Mrs. Sue Cormier of Lawrence attended as matron of honor, and bridesmaids included Linda Crotch of North Andover, Ellen Ammon of Salem, N.H., Mrs. Kathy DelleChiaie of Methuen, Mrs. Carol McCarthy of Andover and Mrs. Dawn Maddaline of Lebanon, N.H. They wore cranberry, one-shoulder gowns with matching cocoon jackets, and carried globe candles surrounded with red and white roses.

Karen Lenzen of Sanford, Maine, and Leigh DelleChiaie of Methuen, were flower girls, and Jeff and Mark DelleChiaie of Methuen were ring bearers.

Mrs. Symonevich chose a kelly green halter gown with matching, sheer waist-length cape for her daughter's wedding, and a white rose corsage. The groom's mother wore a long-sleeved beige and brown chiffon gown, with off-white roses attached to her purse.

Donny Wells of Danvers served as the groom's best man, and ushers were Mike Hanley of Andover, David DelleChiaie of Methuen, James McCarthy of Andover, Bob Cashman of North Andover and Paul Abel of Methuen.

A reception followed the ceremony at Pat's Beef House in Haverhill, and the couple took a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico.

The new Mrs. Ammon graduated from Waterville High School in 1974, and from the Barbizon Retailing Academy in Boston in 1975. She is New England sales representative for DelMar Woven Woods.

Her husband, a graduate of Andover High School in 1973 and Wentworth Institute in 1976, is a sales representative for Bryant Electric Division of Westinghouse.

Planning Historical Program

The Andover Historical Society is preparing a program portraying life in Andover in 1820 to be offered to all fifth grade students in Andover. The purpose of the program is to help children understand and enjoy local history.

Because Andover was primarily agricultural, the Society's barn is a perfect setting. Using different sections of the barn to represent a farm, a store and a kitchen, etc., the program will emphasize activities, artifacts and pictures for a lively presentation.

Anyone interested in helping to develop this program, contact The Andover Historical Society.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans Fair

The traditional doll sale and awarding of a $500 prize will be featured at the annual Harvest Fair sponsored by the Bon Secours Hospital Auxiliary on Tuesday, Nov. 4 and Wednesday, Nov. 5, at the hospital auditorium, 30 East St., Methuen.

The fair, scheduled for 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday, will include a luncheon on Wednesday, with seatings at 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

In addition to the $500 first prize, the raffle will offer a microwave oven as second prize, an automatic telephone answering service as third prize, and seven other prizes.

Since 1948, the dressing and selling of dolls has been a highlight of the fair. Auxiliary president and honorary chairman Peg Murphy of North Andover has been conducting weekly workshops for fair items, with special attention to the dolls.

The Bon Secours Hospital Auxiliary, launched in 1947, has raised funds to help support the hospital since before the hospital doors were opened in 1950.

During 1980, the auxiliary has raised and donated to the hospital $100,000 as part of a five-year pledge to donate $250,000 to Bon Secours.

This month, the auxiliary coffee shop donated to the hospital $10,000 and the gift shop, $20,000, during the annual meeting of the auxiliary.

Planning the annual fair, in addition to honorary chairman Peg Murphy, are: chairman Alice M. O'Reilly of Andover; Liz Daher of Methuen, Joyce Daher of Methuen and Doris Regan of Lawrence, attic treasures; Ann Conner of Methuen, Adeline Ippolito of Salem, N.H., and Vi Giannarakos of North Andover, bakery; Ruth Land of Salem, N.H., Yvonne Malen of Methuen, and Rita Ulahey of Salem, beauty basket; Rita Dolan of North Andover, Marie Eastwood and Isabelle Killilea, both of Andover, children's table; Rita Roberts of Methuen, and Mary Foley of Haverhill, Christmas boutique; Blanche Keefe of Lawrence, Christmas decorations; Nancy Norbedo and Mary-Ann Rourke, both of North Andover, gift table; Margaret Halmaler of North Andover, Gerry Costello and Ellen Farrington of Andover, hostesses; Frances Bush of Andover, luncheon; Ann DeLellis of North Andover and Evelyn Rancourt of Lawrence, potpourri; Elaine Burke of North Andover, publicity; and Doris McGovern of Andover and Clair Toye of Lawrence, raffle.

Art Exhibit

The paintings of well-known Melrose artist Claire Markham will be on display each weekday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., through Nov. 11, at American Mutual Insurance Companies.

Mrs. Markham, daughter of Dr. J. W. Burke, Gloucester, formerly of Wakefield, is a graduate of Boston University's School of Practical Arts and Letters where she majored in interior design. She has studied with Thaddeus Klodnicki of Reading and Rockport and also with Betty Lou Schlemm.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fortier
Fortier-Sullivan

Cynthia Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund P. Sullivan, 14 Robandy Road, became the bride Oct. 4, of Paul Fortier, also of Andover. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fortier, 7 Henderson Ave.

The Rev. Richard O'Leary officiated at the 10 a.m. service at St. Augustine Church, before an altar decorated with pink and white spider mums. Matching bows adorned the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a cathedral-length gown of candlelight chiffon, accented with Alencon lace. Her cathedral-length veil was bordered with matching lace, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and spider mums, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Christine Sullivan attended her sister as maid of honor, and bridesmaids included another sister, Ciara Sullivan; the groom's sisters, Jane, Carol and Christine Fortier; and Cynthia Engstrom. They wore chiffon gowns in a burgundy print, and carried bouquets of pink fugis, spider mums, baby's breath and stephanotis.

Mrs. Sullivan chose an accordean-pleated, street-length dress in dusty rose chiffon for her daughter's wedding, and the groom's mother wore a street-length dress of wine quiana.

Jack Pyne, the groom's cousin, served as his bestman, and ushers included Edward Caselden; Stephen Dussault, a cousin of the bride; Mike DiTroia, Mark Ziminsky and Paul McIntyre.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Sheraton Rolling Green, and the couple took a wedding trip to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands.

The new Mrs. Fortier received her B.S. degree in accounting from Providence College, and is an accountant at the New England Medical Center Hospital. Her fiancé, a graduate of the University of Lowell with a B.S. degree in business administration, is a marketing analyst for Western Electric in Boston.

They are making their home in Andover.

Concert

Hammond Castle Museum will present Douglas Marshall, organist in concert on Saturday, Nov. 8 at 8 p.m.

Douglas Marshall is a tremendously exciting young organist who is fascinated with the immense range of expression possible on the organ and is not afraid to explore that range to the fullest. He couples technical agility and clarity of articulation with the highest musical and emotional intensity and an ability to use the organ's tones and registers to orchestrate a piece with an uncanny sense of rightness.

To Entertain Women's Club

Nancy Howard DeBruyn, dramatic soprano, will present her musical monologue based upon the popular musical "Camelot" for the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club at their annual Men's and Friend's Night at DiBurro's Restaurant in Bradford on Monday, Nov. 3 at 6:15 p.m.

A native New Englander, Miss DeBruyn received her classical musical education at New England Conservatory of Music and Boston University, then traveled to Germany where she specialized in opera. Returning to the United States, she appeared with Boris Goldovski's Opera Theatre and with Sarah Caldwell's Boston Opera Group.

However, it is her summer stock appearances with musical comedy which have developed into the popular one-woman show which she calls Musical Monologues. Each performance is a capsule presentation of a popular Broadway show, interpreted in costume, song and dance.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Robert Stemke and Mrs. Frank Schiller.

November Club Meets Monday

The November Club will hold its first meeting of the season at the club house on Locke Street on Monday, Nov. 3. Tea will be served at 1:15 p.m. Mrs. Robert F. Lampe and Mrs. Robert Vandor, past presidents of the November Club, will pour. The table will be decorated with a centerpiece in fall colors created by Mrs. William R. Adams, Jr. Mrs. John T. Bangert, president, will open the meeting at 1:45 p.m.

Members and their guests will be greeted by Mrs. Charles A. Currier and Mrs. Edwin D. Bullimore.

The program, "How Art Blooms at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston," will be presented by Mrs. Charles Winans and Mrs. Peter A. Brooke of the Ladies Committee of the Museum. These beautiful slides of the 1980 Spring Festival will bring a unique opportunity to view many of the Museum's treasured pieces and see them enhanced by carefully created floral arrangements. These were done to complement a particular painting, sculpture or art object.

Andy 500 Gets Green Flag

After being postponed a week due to inclement weather, the Department of Community Services held its sixth annual "Andy 500" soap box derby this past Saturday morning. Under threatening skies and with stiff fall breezes blowing all over the speedway, the racers still managed to compete with agility. Every car had to maneuver around obstacles along the course and still maintain its speed.

While Andy 500 veterans like Bobby Antonucci and Doug Bailey put together very good performances, the field in general showed a consistency that has not been a characteristic of past derbies. Special awards were given for the "Most Attractive" car and for cars showing the "Most Original" design. Joseph Licata won the "Most Original" design award with a simple looking yet efficient vehicle. The "Most Attractive" award was shared by Brooks Cutter and Stephanie Checic. These two racer's silver cars had similar designs - sleek and low to the ground -

Planners Discuss Meeting Articles

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Plans for a 48-unit townhouse development on Andover Street and a proposal to convert a Main Street residence into offices, both to be presented before special town meeting next month, were the subject of Planning Board discussion Tuesday night.

The main feature of the special meeting will be two articles inserted by former selectman Sidney P. White, to request rezoning of an 18-acre parcel off Andover Street and Argilla Road for a multi-family housing development.

The proposed development, to be called "Baker's Village," would be built by Wynwood Associates.

The new zone proposed in White's article would be called a "townhouse cluster," Wynwood designer Jack Fulton told the planning board.

Baker's Village will consist of 48 units in 18 buildings, Fulton said, presenting a preliminary sketch of the development to the board. The units will be built in three clusters around three cul-de-sacs, off a main roadway entering the development from Andover Street.

The development will feature open space around the perimeter, a wooded area in the back, and the existing duck pond off Argilla Road, which will be improved, Fulton said.

A row of trees along Andover Street will help shield the development from the street, he added.

Each of the 18 Colonial-style buildings will include two, three or four units, with attached garages for "almost every unit," Fulton said.

The development will include a number of one-story units with access directly into the garage, suitable for the handicapped he pointed out.

The units will probably sell for $100,000 to $125,000, although Fulton said some may sell for as low as $80,000, "depending on the economics."

Planning board members suggested that White and Wynwood prepare more visual aids for town meeting, such as architect's sketches of sample buildings and elevations, and slides of similar developments in other communities, such as Lexington.

White said he was considering submitting aerial photographs of the site as well.

A public hearing on the White-Wynwood proposal will be held Wednesday, Nov. 5, in the Essex Street theatre building.

The special town meeting will also consider an article inserted in the warrant Monday night by William Gurry of 131 Main Street.

Director of Community Development and Planning Rhys Kear told the planning board he strongly opposes Gurry's proposal to rezone a 3,000-square-foot parcel at the corner of Morton and Main Streets.

Gurry would like to rezone the land, currently zoned single residence A, to general business zone, so that he may convert a three-unit dwelling on the lot into offices.

Calling the proposal "a classic case of spot zoning," Kear said the proposal should be disapproved largely because the parcel is located 900 feet away from the general business district.

If Gurry's parcel is rezoned, the town would have "no basis to deny rezoning petitions all along this corridor to the business zone," Kear said. The area is now residential, with the exception of one business next door to Gurry's lot.

Among the "myriad uses" allowed in the general business district are nursing homes, private clubs, retail sales, clinics, trade schools, movie theatres, bowling alleys, and motels, said Kear.

With special permits, developers could also build fast food restaurants, laundromats, gas stations and car washes in the business district, he added.

"I have a real concern with rezoning property in the absence of planning and well thought out policy," Kear told the board. "It is really like having a gun put to your head."

Board member Frank McBride pointed out that town meeting has traditionally opposed spot zoning.

The planning board will hold a public hearing on Gurry's petition on Monday, Nov. 17, at the theatre building.

In other business before the planning board Tuesday night, developer Yvon Cormier presented definitive plans for sections two and three of the Andover Country Club.

Section two includes 12 acres and section three, 23 acres, according to Paul Ferrante of Dana F. Perkins Associates, engineers for the development.

The two sections, located off Canterbury Street across from section one, which is now under construction, will include 34 homes, built around three cul-de-sacs.

Ferrante said the developer has not yet estimated how much gravel would have to be removed from the sections.

However, Arthur Fosse of Dana Perkins said the developer has found an alternative plan for sewerage section two that could reduce gravel removal by as much as 130,000 cubic yards. Gravel removal in the section would then be "minimal," he said.

The plan calls for taking over an easement through town conservation land that the town has granted to Richard Grecoe.

By taking over Grecoe's easement, the developer could avoid petitioning town meeting for another easement, Fosse said. In return, Grecoe has asked for access to his property from a subdivision roadway; Grecoe would own the land around the access point.

Cormier will not submit plans including the Grecoe easement until that plan has been finalized and the legal details worked out, Fosse said.

Robert Bradway of 18 Chandler Circle, one of a small and quiet audience at the country club hearing, said the town should "encourage" the developer to proceed with the plan because it would minimize the amount of gravel to be removed.

Kear replied that while the town has not yet seen the plans, "we very definitely favor an alternative that would reduce the amount of earth matter to be removed to an absolute minimum."

The planning board has a Nov. 30 deadline for approving Cormier's definitive plans.

Volunteer Help Is Needed

Since the founding of America, the idea of volunteerism - of people helping each other without thought of payment - has been a basic way of life.

The Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A. is an organization dependant on volunteers. Today the "Y" needs volunteers as much as it ever did, perhaps even more. At the "Y", volunteers learn practical skills themselves as well as helping to make the "Y" a success to the community.

The "Y" feels that its volunteers should represent the total community. Therefore, it is looking for all kinds of people - youths, adults, men and women - to serve on committees, teach classes in physical education and special interests (crafts, art, cooking, etc.).

For further information, contact Barbara DeNitto, coordinator of volunteers at the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A., 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

Water is one shortage we won't survive.

No responsible representative can ignore the environmental waste problem.

Evidence of illegal dumping by chemical and industrial firms has been discovered at various locations within the state. This illegal waste disposal has jeopardized the water quality and water supplies in many communities.

Bill Gustus is serious about protecting our vital resources.

We must insure that illegal dumping does not continue. Penalties for those found illegally dumping wastes should be increased. And, Massachusetts must establish a legal disposal plant. Regional water systems should be planned and implemented to take advantage of the natural watershed areas. Regional planning can work to provide better service and lowering the cost for individual communities.

Cable TV Decision Awaits Consultant

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The year-long battle for Andover's 15-year cable television franchise goes on: after a long and often heated public hearing Monday night, the selectmen delayed until Nov. 10 their choice between Rollins Cablevision and Continental Cablevision.

However, the two-and-one-half hour hearing, to be continued next Monday, did result in a victory of sorts for Continental, the Cable Television Advisory Committee's second choice. At Continental's urging, the selectmen voted to hire a consultant to further study the two companies.

Atty. Reginald Marden, chairman of the advisory committee, said the committee strongly recommended Rollins because that company is offering a "superior" proposal.

Marden also called the selectmen's decision to retain a consultant a "fundamental policy decision that you will have to follow through on very carefully. Do you want to make your future decisions based upon your relationship with a consultant, or with the cable advisory committee?"

Continental representative John

Rakoske, vice president of New England systems, said the advisory committee has not adequately analyzed Rollins' financial statements.

"Their system cannot be built for the dollars they say they can build it at, and it cannot be operated at the expense level they propose," Rakoske charged. "It would be plausible and reasonable to engage a consultant, and get a second opinion, before making the award."

Rollins Vice President of Systems Development Tom Bird replied that he was "confident that our numbers are solid, accurate and reasonable. As for their (Continental's) numbers — frankly, I don't know where they came from."

Marden told the selectmen the advisory committee, after a year-long study, believed both companies "can stand behind the numbers they are projecting." Continental, he added, "has been calling Rollins' numbers pie-in-the-sky for a year now, but they've never gone much beyond that. The committee didn't feel bound to accept the argument that, 'their numbers are wrong, and ours are right.'"

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark recommended that a consultant be engaged to "verify Rollins' proposal from an economic standpoint." He said he did not wish to continue the work done by the advisory committee, but to "turn over the last rock. This is not a challenge to the committee or an effort to compare Continental to Rollins."

Selectman Chairman James Abramson agreed that the selectmen have "an obligation to the town" to examine the company's financial statements, but added that it would be unfair not to analyze Continental's financial proposal as well.

The board voted three to two to retain a financial consultant, with Susan Poore and Edward Harris opposed. "I question the use of a consultant at this point," Poore commented. "What is it going to show? I've heard the committee's report and I would feel comfortable voting tonight."

Still unresolved is the question of who will pay for the consultant's fee, an estimated $2,000. While Continental offered to foot half the bill, Rollins representative Bird said state regulations prohibit applicants from paying for consultants.

"Continental should bear the burden of proof and engage the consultant at their expense," he maintained.

Abramson said the vote would stand while the town looks into the "legal ramifications" of hiring and paying for a consultant.

Rollins Cablevision is part of an Atlanta-based conglomerate, according to George

16,793 Eligible To Vote Tuesday

The Great Debate is over and the ensuing campaign speeches grind on toward the final day of decision next Tuesday, to decide who will serve the nation as President for the next four years.

In Andover, 16,793 voters will be able to cast ballots for President as well as several other issues, including the controversial referendum item, Proposition 2½.

Town Clerk Elden R. Salter said this week he anticipates a good turnout on Tuesday, based on the interest shown in the Prop 2½ issue, along with the vote for President, between incumbent Jimmy Carter, Republican candidate Ronald Reagan and Independent John Anderson.

Voting will be in the Andover High gymnasium, the single polling place for all Andover, attracting the most attention is Question

2, dealing with Proposition 2½.

Andover voters. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Two parking areas will be available at the school, and there will be handicapped parking spaces provided at the front of the gymnasium.

The one-way traffic system will be in effect, with voters entering the polling area from Shawsheen Road, then leaving via the roadway which goes behind West Junior High back out to Shawsheen Road.

The only other office contested on the Andover ballot is that of Congressman from the Fifth District. Cong. James J. Shannon of Lawrence, completing his first term, is seeking re-election over the challenge of William Sawyer, a former Acton selectman.

While there are several referendum questions on the Tuesday ballot, the one

If passed the law would stipulate that property taxes could not increase more than 2½ per cent and would change laws dealing with compulsory binding arbitration and autonomy for school committees.

Most municipal officials throughout the state oppose the proposal with the general feeling that while property tax relief is needed, the proposition as put forth by the private citizens group fails to respond to that need responsibly.

Voting will be through the punch card, or computer, method and it is anticipated that the local results will be known early. The cards are processed and results posted in the town hall lobby as they are recorded from the computer printout.

Town Clerk Salter urges all residents who can possibly do so, to vote early to avoid long lines

A Stormy Weekend

Heavy wind and rain caused considerable damage throughout Andover last Saturday, one of the places most affected being the Manock property at 185 Elm St. where this huge willow tree fell on the house. Two other trees on the property were also felled by the high winds. Power lines were also knocked down in the area. Power outages were reported in various sections of town, mostly in the West Andover area. Andover public works crews were busy throughout Saturday and Sunday caring for downed trees and limbs as well as unclogging catch basins.

Sewer Line Extension Approved

The selectmen Monday night approved two new sewer extensions in West Andover that are consistent with the town's master sewer plan.

An extension approved for Valle's Steakhouse off River Road will serve a new gravity sanitary sewer, a permanent replacement for the existing sewer line, which was built as temporary.

Koala Inn, which plans to build a new facility off River Road, was granted an extension and connection permit, allowing the inn to extend and tie into the new sewer which will service Valle's.

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark recommended that the selectmen approve both extensions, subject to the work being performed to the satisfaction of the Director of Public Works and the Board of Health.

Clark noted that the two extensions will mark completion of the implementation of the master sewer plan for that quadrant in West Andover.

The weeks and months of campaign rhetoric come to an end next Tuesday as American voters go to the polls to make their choice for President.

The decision, as in past elections is a difficult one.

Undoubtedly as the hours wind down to election day, both President Carter and Ronald Reagan will be making even more impassioned pleas for voter attention. Pollsters, at midweek, indicate the election to be close, thus the importance of all taking the time to make that important decision on Tuesday.

Based on an evaluation of the candidates, it would seem that the logical choice as we proceed into the decade of the '80s, is Ronald Reagan.

In the four years since President Carter took office, the country has faced increasing problems as the economy continues to plague Americans. Respect for us as a nation has ebbed as the world community views us. Energy problems continue. Simply stated the nation's problems are greater today than when Carter took office, and there is little prospect of immediate improvement.

Reagan offers promise, based on his experience as governor of California.

As chief executive of one of the nation's largest states, Reagan surrounded himself with capable advisors and aides. We trust he would bring that same ability with him to the White House. Assuming the governorship in a state with a deficit, Reagan left office with a surplus in the treasury.

His government reform programs, particularly in the area of welfare, became renowned.

At a time when America needs effective leadership, Reagan offers the best prospect to bring such an attribute to the White House.

As an added note, we might become somewhat provincial and point to Reagan's running mate, George Bush, as being well-suited for the second spot on the ticket.

The provincialism comes from Bush being a Phillips Academy graduate and former trustee at the academy. While that, indeed, is a plus in his favor, Bush has had a long career of government service which should equip him well in the office of vice president.

For Congress

On the local scene, voters will have the opportunity to choose between Incumbent Congressman James Shannon and former Acton Selectmen William Sawyer to serve the Fifth District.

Sawyer has discussed issues and expressed concern, particularly on environmental issues.

But Shannon, completing his first term in Congress, has done an excellent job during those two years. His appointment to the House Ways and Means committee in his freshman term, is indeed a plus for him and for the district.

Jim Shannon's return to Congress would continue to serve the interests of the Fifth District in good stead.

Another Consultant

Selectmen this week rather than deferring a final decision on awarding a cable TV license for a little additional study, opted for retention of an outside consultant to assist in that decision.

The move seems an unnecessary one.

For the past year or more, a special study committee has been examining proposals by competing cable TV firms. The group headed by Atty. Reginald Marden has delved into all aspects of the proposal to offer the service to Andover. Their work, in our opinion, has been thorough, time consuming and purely voluntary.

Now, the majority of the selectmen, with only Edward M. Harris and Susan T. Poore dissenting, want an outside consultant, with a further determination as to how such service is to be paid.

Realizing that they prefaced their decision with the commentary that this should not be judged as a reflection on the voluntary study committee work, it still could be looked upon as somewhat of an affront to the effort put in by that group.

We surmise that the financial condition of the Rollins Cablevision firm, which had the committee recommendation was examined in the process of evaluation by Marden's group, along with all other aspects of the proposal.

Continental Cablevision, which is the other firm contending for the license, offered to pay a portion of the fee for the consultant, which, in our opinion, would be highly improper.

This leaves the general public with the consultant's bill.

Consultants to public, decision-making bodies, are often called upon to provide a decision which the group already has decided upon, but reliance on an outside source shores up the feeling and relieves the responsibility.

Municipal officials, such as selectmen, are elected to make decisions based on information provided.

In this case, Atty. Marden and his committee of John Sweeney and James Caldwell, provided Andover with a valuable public service in studying the cablevision proposals as thoroughly as possible before making their recommendation.

Frankly, further expense and examination seems unnecessary and almost frivolous.

When Andover has such valuable resources to call upon, and official bodies follow their recommendations with the need for consultant services, it tends to put a damper on such things as a resource bank for volunteer assistance.

Machinery is now running in the new mill erected by Smith and Dove in Abbot Village. The new building gives the plant some much needed room as their business is ever increasing and of late they have been crowded.

Hallowe'en was observed in town on Tuesday evening by a large number of small boys in several sections who enjoyed themselves by going from house to house ringing doorbells and presenting Jack-o'-lanterns at the windows. No rude or disgraceful proceedings have been reported.

Phoebe Foxcroft, Phillips Chapter D.A.R., has presented to the public schools of Andover seven framed pictures, copies of the historical paintings by John Trumbull in the rotunda of the Capitol at Washington. This present is highly appreciated and the pictures will be placed on the walls of schoolrooms where they are most needed.

Reverend Doremus Scudder, D.D., will speak at the South Church Sunday night at 7:30. Dr. Scudder is the superintendent of the large missionary work in the Hawaiian islands, among the Chinese and Japanese. He is a speaker of power, and his work is interesting to every good American.

Serious loss was fortunately averted early Tuesday morning by the prompt extinguishing of a fire which broke out in the Phillips Academy coal pockets shortly after midnight. Firemen kept a steady stream of water playing upon the coal for several hours. There were 40 tons of coal stored in the pockets, but not much was consumed and the loss will not be great unless the fire breaks out again.

Carter Pushed Fed to Sit On Rates, Avoid Bad News Before NovemberBy JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR

WASHINGTON -- President Jimmy Carter should have some clout with the Federal Reserve Board, since he appointed five of the seven governors of the board. And the tall, bespectacled chairman, Paul Volcker, is a Carter man.

But the "Fed," as the Washington bigwigs call it, has its statutory duties. It's supposed to keep the economy as stable as possible by regulating the money supply. With inflation soaring, the best way to hold down prices is to tighten the money supply. The Fed does this by raising interest rates.

An increase in interest rates, however, is a bad economic sign and President Carter doesn't want any bad economic news on the eve of the election.

He knows, of course, that the economy is ragged, that inflation could surge out of control, that the Fed would have to tighten the economic screws eventually. But he wanted the Fed to put off any action until after the election.

So Carter brought quiet pressure on the Fed not to tamper with the interest rates. His aides urged key congressmen to use their influence with the Fed not to take any action that might hurt Carter's re-election campaign.

But the big banks panicked at the latest burst of inflation. They raised their interest rates to protect themselves against erosion of the dollar. Finally, the governors of the Federal Reserve Board decided they couldn't hold back action any longer. So they cranked up the money rates. The vote was unanimous.

The president was furious. One White House source described him as "livid." He dispatched his chief economic adviser, Charles Schultze, to lecture Volcker on the political evils of high interest rates. Carter also spoke out publicly against the Fed's action.

Top White House aides were surprised at the president's attacks on his own appointees. They advised him to tone down his criticism. But Carter shot back a hand-written note to his aides, telling them he meant precisely what he said.

JOHN WHO?: Congress has its own peculiar protocol. On Capitol Hill, seniority is sacred. The congressmen with the most service have the most status.

But it can hurt a congressman's status to be photographed accepting money from a phony Arab sheik. Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., for example, has seniority. He also used to have status.

Then he walked within range of the FBI's hidden cameras and took a briefcase stuffed with $50,000 in cash. He said he thought it contained immigration forms. But the Justice Department was skeptical and indicted him.

What a difference an indictment can make.

Two years ago, Murphy received a death threat from opponents of Nicaraguan dictator Anastasio Somoza. The congressman had been a longtime personal friend and staunch supporter of Somoza.

The FBI was called in, and agents rushed to his Capitol Hill office. The threat, which had come in the mail, warned Murphy that if he went to Nicaragua, he'd return home in a plastic bag. The point of the threat, apparently, was to keep the congressman from appearing in Nicaragua to support his friend, the dictator.

Last month, Somoza was assassinated in Paraguay, where he was living in exile. Someone called Murphy's office and gloated, "They just killed Somoza, and your boss is next."

Murphy's aides called the FBI. But this time, no G-men rushed to the congressman's office. He had to make do with the Capitol police.

LAST PLANTATION: Congress habitually exempts itself from the laws it passes for others to obey. The lawmakers do not have to adhere, for example, to the tenets of equal pay and equal employment opportunity legislation. Thus, on Capitol Hill, women are still second-class workers. In 14 of 19 job categories, men earn more than women working in the same positions. And even when women are allowed to move from clerical to executive positions, they still earn only 71 cents for every dollar earned by men.

SUSPICIOUS STUDENTS: Some of the so-called exchange students from Russia and China who are studying in the United States may be technology spies. According to intelligence sources, the typical Russian "student" is 35 years old, has the equivalent of a doctoral degree and eight years of work experience. American students go to Russia to study art, language and literature. But the Soviet exchange students come here to bone up on electronics, computer science and good old Yankee technological know-how.

THE REAL UNTOUCHABLES: Federal law enforcement agencies are trying to stop the organized crime hit men who kill for profit. But because of a loophole in the federal criminal code, the mob bosses who actually order the killings get off scot-free. There is no federal "murder for hire" statute. According to prosecutors, other federal laws and state murder statutes aren't enough to put the bosses of the hit men behind bars.

CORRECTION: Three weeks ago, we reported that Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., had -- for two years in a row -- supported legislation that would ban federal legal aid to homosexuals. We named the wrong man. It was not Sen. Helms who sponsored the legislation; it was Rep. Larry McDonald, D-Ga., a prominent member of the John Birch Society.

Racing Through Andover

The Department of Community Services, in conjunction with the Brooks Shoe Manufacturing Company, held its fifth annual 5-mile road race, Sunday.

Two-hundred and six runners competed on a cold and windy day that saw the second largest field in DCS road race history battle for three top spots in 12 separate age divisions. P. J. Kolb of Concord, N.H. took the top honors of the day finishing in a time of 25.43, just 33 seconds over the course record. Kevin Retelle of Andover was right behind Kolb with a time of 25.48, while Buddy Bostick of Amesbury came in third in 26.10.

Andover's Ann Daly was the first female finisher with a time of 24.36. Gift certificates for a pair of "Vantage" running shoes were presented to the first male and female finishers, courtesy of the Brooks Shoe Manufacturing Company.

A complete list of the top three finishers in each division:

Warrior Booters Qualify For State Tourney

By She Livermore

The Warriors continued to win victory points in league play last week as they defeated Lowell High, 2-0, on Tuesday and downed Greater Lawrence Voke, 2-1, on Saturday. Saturday's win over the Voke guaranteed the warriors a berth in the State Championship play-offs; the weather conditions were terrible and the Voke's defense tough but Andover prevailed.

Andover 3 - Lowell High 0

Andover's first goal, scored by Mike Sherman, was called back due to an off-side ruling.

Shortly before the end of the first half, Mike Sherman scored again to officially put Andover on the scoreboard. Co-captain Dan Donovan made an excellent pass over the defensive wall to Mike, who took the ball and put it into the net.

Andover's second goal came as a result of an error by the Lowell goalkeeper. Mike Sherman and Dan Roberts, who received credit for the goal, applied pressure to a Lowell defender and forced him to pass the ball back to the goalkeeper, who hit it too hard and put it in his own net.

Brian Butler recorded his fifth shutout of the year.

Co-captain Paul Reichert played another excellent game, marking Lowell's top scorer centre forward Albino Espinalo and holding him to only two shots on net.

The defense did a super job by keeping Lowell in their own end and allowing them only seven shots on the net throughout the entire game. Lowell's goalkeeper on the other hand was forced to make about 25 saves.

Andover 2 - Greater Lawrence Voke 1

The Warrior's first goal was scored by co-captain Dan Donovan in the first two minutes, on a direct kick. As soon as the ball was in place, and before the Voke had taken defensive measures, Donovan quickly put the ball between two players in the wall and totally surprised the goalkeeper.

The winning goal was tallied in the second half again by co-captain Dan Donovan, on a fine halfback shot as the Voke attempted to clear the ball from in front of their own net.

In the final two minutes of the contest, league high scorer Bethino Moniz notched his twelfth goal of the season to deny Brian Butler his sixth shutout.

The Warriors played a fine defensive game under very poor conditions. Whilst the wind was in their favor in the first half, they had to battle the wind and the extremely heavy downpour in the second half.

Todd Zimmerman saw extensive play in the second half during the rainstorm and did a fine job.

Co-captain Paul Reichert was assigned to cover Moniz and did an excellent job; the only goal Moniz scored came as a result of a scramble in front of the net following a corner kick.

Dave Sherman played extremely well at right defender, and both Mark Easton and Chris Bates played their usual excellent soccer.

Andover's front line had a tough time battling the extremely poor weather conditions as well as the Voke's strong defensive play, which included some excellent saves by goalkeeper Victor Gonzales.

This game saw Dave Robinson return to action for a short stint following an injury in the Austin game, during which he played well.

Andover played Lawrence yesterday and will play a return match with Haverhill on Friday at home at 3:15. The last game of the season will be played in Chelmsford on Wednesday, Nov. 5.

The opening rounds of the State Tournament will begin on Monday, Nov. 10. Participation is awarded to any team that wins 70 percent of their total possible

Pet Care

Families with pets will want to bring their children to the instructive program on pet care Saturday morning, Nov. 1, at the Peabody Museum of Salem. Lizette Chanock of the American Humane Education Society and author of the recent article, "Choosing Your Pet," in "Animals Magazine," will conduct this program with the help of her dog and other well-cared-for pets. Her presentation will also include a slide show and a question-and-answer period.

The program will last from 10 til 11:30 a.m.; the Museum remains open til 5 p.m. with a variety of permanent and special exhibits on Maritime History of New England, Lifestyles of East Asian and South Pacific Peoples.

Girl Swimmers Lose Heartbreakers

Andover 37 - Chelmsford 39

The Andover High girls' swimteam lost two heartbreakers last week. On Tuesday, they swam against Chelmsford, and despite five first place finishes, medley relay, Lisa Caputo, Tracy Dowd, Debbie Bates and Cynthia Surret, 200 freestyle, 500 free, Lisa Kleschinsky, 100 back, Caputo and 100 breast, Surret, they couldn't pull off a win. Chelmsford also got five first places and five second places, but they took six third places and therefore, won the meet by two points. Second place finishers were Tracy Dowd-100 fly, 200 I.M.; Debbie Bates-50 free, 100 free, and the 400 free relay; Kleschinsky, Robin Boyle, Jennifer Bottomly and Lucis Derba. Third place: 200 medly relay-Jennifer Bottomly, Lisa Gershenberg, Gretchen Munn, and Jill Bottomly, Robin Boyle-100 fly and 100 breast, and Derba-100 free.

Andover - Billerica

The second heartbreaker was on Friday against Billerica. The win lets Billerica clinch first place in the league for the season. Andover was leading the entire meet until the second to last event. There Billerica took over with their strong swimmers. Andover took eight out of 11 first places, but only two second place finished: Cynthia Surret-100 breast, and the 400 free relay of Lisa Kleschinsky, Robin Boyle, Debbie Bates and Jill Bottomly. Andover got six third places, one fourth place and five fifth places. First place finishers for Andover were: 200 medly relay, Lisa Caputo, Cynthia Surret, Tracy Dowd and Gretchen Munn, Lisa Kleschinsky - 200 free and 500 free, Tracy Dowd - 200 I.M. and 100 butterfly, Debbie Bates - 50 free, 100 free, Denise Ahern-diving. Third place: 200 medly relay-Jennifer Bottomly, Lisa Gershenberg, Jill Bottomly and Allison Webster; 200 yard free and 100 fly, Robin Boyle; 50 free and 100 back, Lisa Caputo; and Mary Ann Salisbury, diving. In fourth place was Jennifer Bottomly-100 free. Fifth place finishers were Surret-200 I.M., Ann Marie Tanin-diving, Allison Webster-500 free, Jennifer Bottomly-100 back and Jenna Himber-100 breaststroke. The girls have their final meets of the season this week on Tuesday and Thursday against Arlington and Burlington.

Bike Race Is Saturday

The Department of Community Services 10-Mile Bike Race will be held this Saturday, Nov. 1. The race gets underway at 10 a.m., with post entries being accepted beginning at 9:15 a.m. The route begins at the Harold Rafton Reservation on High Plain Road. It consists of two five mile loops that run from High Plain Road to Forest Hill Drive, to Chandler Road, to Greenwood Road, and back to the starting line on High Plain Road.

Competition will take place in six categories: 1) First Male Finisher; 2) First Female Finisher; 3) First 3-speed (or less) Finisher; 4) First 14 years and under Finisher; 5) First 40 years and over Finisher; and 6) First High School Finisher.

Trophies and medals will be awarded to the winners and runners-up in each category, while ribbons will be given to third and fourth place finishers. Racers may register for the competition at the DCS office or at the starting line on the day of the race. Registration forms and race route maps are available at Andover junior and senior high schools, the Sport Shop, the Hockey Shop, Moor and Mountain, the Cycle Shak, Whitworths Sporting Goods, Wheels 'n Reels, Victor Hugo's, the Lowell Pro Shop and the DCS office on Bartlet Street. A minimum of 25 racers must be pre-registered in order for this event to take place. In case of inclement weather, the race will be held on Saturday, Nov. 8. For additional information, individuals should contact the Community Services office.

points, regardless of their place in the league; first place teams automatically qualify; second place teams must win 59 percent of all possible points in order to qualify.

The last time Andover qualified for the State Tournament was four years ago as third place in the league under the 70 percent ruling, but at that time, ties were counted as wins. In the first round they played Brockton, the largest high school in the state, and were defeated 3-0 on a windswept field in Needham.

League Standings East Division

Andover, 11-1-1, 23 points; Methuen, 9-3-1, 19 points; Greater Lawrence Voke, 6-5-2, 14 points; Lawrence, 5-6-2, 6 points; Haverhill, 1-10-1, 3 points.

Triple and double winners abounded as the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A. Seastar girls' team swam past the Wakefield Y. Saturday.

In class E, the medley relay team of Erika Suduiko, Diedre Sullivan, Nancy Crane and Danielle Leone won with Brenna Cronin replacing Crane on the winning free-style relay. Suduiko also won the 25 yard backstroke. Crane won the 100 yard individual medley and the 25 yard butterfly. Leone took the 50 yard free and Cronin captured the 25 free and the 25 yard breaststroke. Sullivan was second in the 25 breaststroke and third in the 25 free. Crane, Suduiko, Leone and Cronin were triple winners while Sullivan doubled.

Krista Carney and Betsy Amstutz were triple winners for the Seastars in class D. Carney won the 100 free and 50 back and swam with Alix Rosen, Lisa Lanzoni and Amstutz on the winning 200 yard free relay. Amstutz won the 100 I.M. and the 50 breaststroke to triple. Beth Cronin took first in the 50 free with Liz Jurek second. Rosen was second in the 50 fly and 50 breaststroke.

In class C, Shauna Newland anchored both winning relay teams and won the 100 free for her triple. She teamed with triple winner Kara Hannon, Jenny Amstutz and Dana Grogan for the medley win and Han-non, Christine DeMoulas and Darcey Schemack for the freestyle victory. Hannon added her third win in the 50 back. Amy Driscoll won the 50 free for Andover with DeMoulas second and Joyce Whalen third. Amstutz was second in the 100 free with DeMoulas third. Grogan was second in the 50 back.

Lisa Boudreau, Karen Mackay and Abby Robb were triple winners for the Seastars in class B, while Mary Ann Ponti doubled. Boudreau, Mackay, Robb and Ponti won the 200 yard medley relay with Julie Peck replacing Ponti on the winning freestyle relay. Boudreau won with Peck second and 100 yard freestyle winner Dianne Jurgen third. Robb took the 100 butterfly and Mackay won the 100 breaststroke with Jodie Boudreau second. In the 100 yard backstroke, Laura MacVicar was second with Lisa Nolan third.

Jennifer Bottomly won the 50 and 100 free events in class A for a double win. Carol Robb took the 500 free and was second in the 50 free. Barbara Bixby added third place points in the 50 free.

At a mini-meet held in Haverhill Saturday, the 200 yard medley relay team of Coleen Hayes, backstroke; Kate Robb, breaststroke; Amy VanAken, butterfly, and Sarah McLarney, freestyle, took second place. The foursome also placed third in the 200 yard freestyle relay. VanAken was fourth in the 100 I.M., 50 free, 50 fly and 50 breaststroke and fifth in the 50 back.

On Nov. 8, the Seastars boys' team will travel to Wakefield for their first meet of the season.

Annual Little League Meeting

The annual meeting of the Andover Little League will be held Thursday, Nov. 13, at 8 p.m. in the meeting room on the second floor of Memorial Hall Library.

Nomination of officers for the coming year will be held. A new bylaw will be voted on establishing the office of administrative vice president.

All people interested in helping are welcome to attend.

Fellow

Grant A. Emrick, Bon Secours Hospital, Methuen, Ma. has successfully completed the 24th annual Hospital Financial Association Fellowship Examination.

The 52 members of the 1980 class of Fellows earned the designation of Fellow, HFMA, by passing a rigorous eight-hour written examination. To pass the exam, the candidate must demonstrate superior knowledge of hospital accounting and financial management. Successful candidates are entitled to use the initials FHFMA after their names to indicate that they have excelled in their chosen field.

On June 6, 186 candidates sat for the 1980 examination at university locations throughout the country. Twelve graders evaluated each candidate's technical knowledge and ability to exercise sound judgement in solving financial management problems.

The 1980 Fellows join 492 others who have successfully completed the examination since its inception in 1957.

Dolphins Gain Share Of First Place

By Dean LoPresti and Dan Peck

The 1978 and 1979 champion Dolphins earned a share of first place last weekend with an impressive 26-6 win over the Redskins while the Colts were tied 6-6 by the upset-minded Vikings in junior football action.

The Vikings only a week ago held the Dolphins to a scoreless tie and seem to be insisting that the 1980 league championship be decided in head to head competition in the last game of the season. The Colts and Dolphins, both now 3-1-1 on the season, will battle each other next Sunday to finalize league play.

Dolphins 26 - Redskins 6

The Bancroft Dolphins scored in the first, second and twice in the fourth quarters, Sunday, to earn a decisive victory over a determined Redskin team.

After receiving the opening kickoff, the Dolphins failed to mount an offensive drive when on fourth and sixth, the Redskins intercepted a pass. On the next series of downs, the Skins Scott Kelley and George Haseltine could only gain seven yards due to the defensive led by Tom Finneran. On fourth down the Skins John Terrion could not get the first down. On the Phins next first down, Robby Nelson scrambled 20 yards but was hauled down by Joe (Moose) Hart. On the next play, Nelson ran twenty yards to pay-dirt. The extra point was good by Scott Grant. For the rest of the first quarter, the Redskins tried to get the ball downfield to score, but failed. The Dolphins had the ball for the last two plays, but failed to get a drive started.

In the second quarter, the Phins started out poorly with a motion call, but on the next play, Nelson ran 50 yards again for the touchdown. The extra point failed. For the next series of plays the running of Skins Scott Kelly and George Haseltine and the passing of John Terrion brought the ball downfield deep into Phins territory, when on the next play John Terrion connected with Keith Driscoll for their only touchdown. The extra point failed. That was at the end of the half.

In the third quarter the B-teams came onto the field with the Redskins to receive. What looked like a scoring threat for the Skins ended up a fumble with the Phins Anthony Scioli recovering. The Phins got three first downs with the running of Brendan Lynch and Scioli. But on third down they tried an end-around, but lost five yards with an excellent tackle by Mike Lane. On the last play of the quarter, Phins Steve D'Urso intercepted a pass which put the ball at excellent field position for the A-teams.

The A-teams came on and the Dolphins took over on the Skins 40. The running of Nelson, Grant, Mark Polakow and Chris Casey brought the ball to the Skins ten, but it took them six plays to do it because of the defensive line with Joe Hart and Tom Deleire. On second down Polakow scrambled ten yards for the touchdown. The extra point failed. When the Skins had to put the ball in the air, Grant intercepted and ran for the touchdown. Mike Powers got the extra point. For the remainder of the period the Skins tried to mount a scoring drive with the B-teams on the field. Richard LaFond almost broke loose, but the awesome Dolphin defense held on.

The Phin's stars included Grant, Polakow, Casey, Powers, Tom Finneran, and Scott McAllister. For the B-team, Louie LoPresti and Robert Finneran had some great tackles. Others were Scioli, Matt Reubenstein, Brendan Lynch, Todd McAllister and John Lutz.

For the Skins, Keith Driscoll, Moose Hart, George Haseltine, Richard LaFond, Mike Lane, Kyle Marcella, Todd Patti, Ron and Andy Peck, and John Terrion.

Colts 6 - Vikings 6

The Colts, rebounding from a 0-5-1 record last year, continue to hold on to a share of first place after last weekend's junior football action.

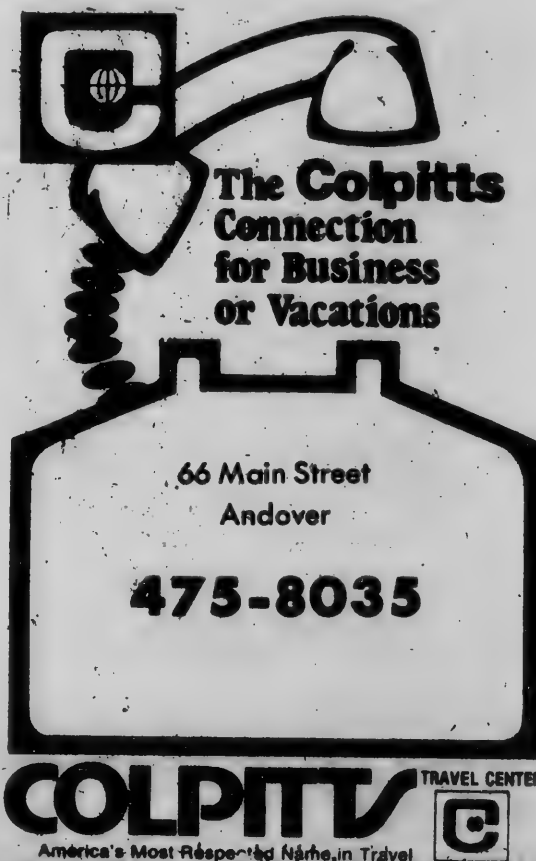

The Vikings set the stage for an upset by scoring on their first offensive series. John Perry connected with Steve Regate for the early touchdown covering over 40 yards. The Colts, however, were not to be denied, and on the very next series, Robby Carpentier hit Chris Bartley to even the score at six. Both extra points failed. For the balance of the quarter each team tried to mount another scoring drive but was unable to do so.

In the second quarter each team had the ball the same number of offensive plays but again failed to mount a scoring drive.

At the start of the second half the B-teams came onto the field with the Vikes to receive. On the second play of the half the Vikes gave the ball away to the Colts, who fumbled but were lucky to recover it. The Colts David Rourke vainly tried to

THE TOWNSMAN, OCTOBER 30, 1980

By She Livermore

The Fury, Kicks and Finches are still looking for their first win. Leeds toppled Manchester to enjoy their first thrill of victory. Crystal Palace are still on top having defeated Liverpool, 3-2, in an exciting contest. Brief results of all of the games played over the weekend appear below:

Under 10 Division

Quakes 5 - Stings 0

Quakes 3 - Fury 1

The Quakes took the lead in the first quarter when Tyler Vadeboncoeur scored on passes from Scott Clementi and Douglas Rogers. The game was then called due to the heavy downpour. Resuming action on the following day, and with only ten players available on both teams, the Quakes booted in another four goals (Robert Ashworth (2), one on a pass from Mark Angelos, Scott Clementi on a corner kick, and Mark Angelos on a pass from Chris Lowe) whilst denying the spirited Sting any successful shots on their net. gain yardage along with Scott Wallace, but were unable to do anything but lose yardage due to a strong defense led by Steve Rikeman and Pete Derba. The Colts then had to turn the ball over to the Vikes on their own 42. The running of Pete Derba and Derek Brucato brought the ball only to their 48 in three downs. The tough defense led by Erik Shenker and Anthony Lauterie was the cause of the Colts gaining only six yards. On fourth down the Vikes had to kick but the punt was mishandled and it ended up with the Vikings recovering and the Colts taking over first and ten on the Vikes 45. On the play Colts back David Rourke lost nine yards being brought down by Rikeman on the Colt 46. During the series of play, the Colts Wallace and John Twomey brought the ball over to the Vikes 47. The Vikings then took over and on first and ten, fumbled the ball at the end of the quarter with the Colts recovering.

In the next and final quarter, the Colts had the ball for the first ten plays and on second down Carpentier connected with Robert Ditroia, who was stripped of the ball by Vikings John Perry who ran 52 yards up the sideline but was caught by Ditroia, who gave chase after being robbed. The Vikes then tried vainly to score, but a pass on second down was picked off by Colt Robert Manning who was brought down by Ron Geis. The Colts then tried to score, but were unable to do so. The final score of the hard fought contest was Colts 6-Viking 6, setting the stage for next week's championship game, Colts vs. Dolphins.

Colts offensive stars included Carpentier, Bartley, Ditroia, Earl Abdo, Matt McManus, Jay Lahif, Jack Sweeny, Matt Aumais; defensive stars were Erik Shenker, Andrew Grant, Manning, Mike Hart and Beau Jones.

B-team stars were Rourke, Wallace, Lauterie, Jack Dalton, Twomey and Peter Trede.

Viking stars were Robert Salisbury, John Perry, Steve Redgate, Ron Geis, Walter Rudulski, Nick Coon, Peter Derba, Richard Bourdelais, Brian Gibson, Tim Scanlon, Doug Bruk, Derek Bucato, Mark Duncan and Seve Rikeman.

Next week's game will be at 1 p.m. starting with the Redskins and the Vikings battling for third and fourth place, while the Dolphins and Colts will follow to determine the 1980 champions.

and Douglas Prugh (Quakes) as well as Andrew Hager and Peter Caruso (Stings).

In a make-up game with the Fury, the Quakes were more successful at getting the ball into the net. The Fury took the lead when Scott Livermore scored on a beautiful long kick, but the Quakes came back with three (Mark Angelos, Booth Kyle and Jimmy Murphy on a beautiful passing play by Booth Kyle and Mark Angelos) and they won the points. BOW: Booth Kyle, Chris Lowe and Douglas Rogers (Quakes) as well as John Gemmel, Matt Salamone and Ames Prentiss (Fury).

Metros 2 - Hurricanes 0

The Metros took the lead with two goals in the first quarter booted in by Chris Eggert on a pass by Steve Napolitano, and Steve Napolitano direct. The Hurricanes worked hard to get the ball into the nets and tie it up and made some fine shots in the third and fourth quarter, however, good defense thwarted their efforts, and the Metros won the victory points. BOW: Danaw Orlando and Mike Kalil (Metros) as well as Gene Park and Scott Lanouette (Hurricanes).

Roughnecks 4 - Teamen 1

The TeaMen were challenged by the Roughnecks throughout the contest and at the end of the first two quarters, the Roughnecks held a three goal lead on successful shots by Aaron Boutin (2), on passes from Stephen Bertetti and Brent Raftery, and Brent Raftery on a pass from Zack Bensley. The Teamen did tally in the final quarter (Glenn Harrison) but Andy Shea increased the Roughnecks total on a pass by Stephen Bertetti, and his team won the points. BOW: Allen Boucher, Chris Brouady, Tim Plaehn and Jeremy Levine (Roughnecks).

It Rained On Their Parade

It was a pretty soggy day for football, and it didn't start until after the game was underway in Billerica last Saturday afternoon. And, the weather proved to be an omen for the Golden Warriors who would up in a 0-0 tie, losing a chance to win in the closing moments when an offside penalty nullified a field goal by Mike Reilly. Reilly had parted the up-rights perfectly on the initial try, but fell short following the penalty. In top photo, the Andover High band makes the best of the weather with some plastic, while at lower left, Suzanne LaRanger dejectedly walks through the raindrops. At bottom right, Andover player in white, 'sub-marined' Billerica back after a handoff. On opposite page, Karen Bourdelais, right in top photo, attentively wards off the elements; bottom, Wayne Merolla (11) takes a slippery handoff from Quarterback Brian Moriarty.

Explorer In P.A. Film Talk

The public is invited to a free film-lecture at Phillips Academy. This year's Kemper Lecture will be "Exploring Darwin's Islands," on Friday, Oct. 31, in Kemper Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Narrated by British explorer-filmmaker Quentin Keynes, Darwin's great-grandson, the film retraces the 19th century naturalist's famous voyage in the H.M.S. Beagle around the world in the 1830s.

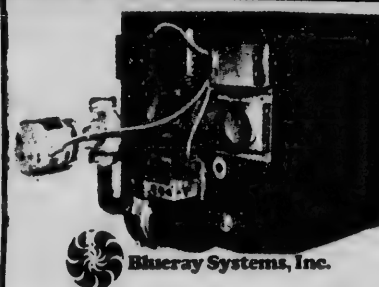

Keynes will show the most interesting of the islands Darwin visited: St. Helena, the island of Napoleon's exile; Ascension Island; the Falkland Islands off Argentina; and especially, in the Pacific off Ecuador, the Galapagos Islands, home of the ancient giant tortoises. It was while exploring the peculiar fauna and flora of the Galapagos that the idea came to Darwin for The Origin of Species, one of the most important scientific works ever published, that rocked the Victorian world.

The Kemper Lecture annually honors John Mason Kemper, late headmaster of Phillips Academy.

British geologist James Hutton was called the "father of geology" because he originated the modern theory of evolution of earth's crust.

Strikers 5 - Rowdies 1

The Rowdies controlled much of the play in the first quarter and took the lead when Craig Knight assaulted the nets, however, the Strikers took the offensive during the rest of the game and tallied five goals (Greg Devoir on a pass from Chris Bloh, Jeff Ranelli on a pass from Tom Tormey, Billy Martin on a pass from Jeff Ranelli, Steve McSweeney on a pass from Billy Martin, and Steve Devoir direct) to win them the victory points. BOW: Mat Zipeto and Danny Ferris (Strikers) as well as Chris McAnally and Steven Smith (Rowdies).

Surf 3 - Fury 1

The Surf were more successful at getting the ball into the net as the spirited Fury made so many attempts to do so, unsuccessfully, particularly in the first and final quarters. Matt Gibson tallied two goals, one on a pass from Robbie Hughes and another from a fine corner kick by Kevin Newman, as well as Robbie Hughes on passes from Peter Cookson and Mickey Schallop. The Fury did get on the scoreboard in the third quarter when Joey Tavilla tallied on a beautiful halfback shot. BOW: The entire Fury and Surf line-up for great effort under less than desirable conditions.

Express 2 - Stompers 1

The Express challenged the Stompers in the first three quarters but good defensive tactics held them to two successful shots booted in by J. B. Burgess on a pass from Lance Gomes and Mark Leinson on a pass from J. B. Burgess following a throw-in by Steve Mencis. The Stompers took the offensive in the final quarter, controlled much of the action, but were only able to get the ball in once (Michael Engelhart). BOW: David Lewis and George Bilger (Stompers) as well as Mark Books and Tony Ciolfi (Express).

Cosmos 1 - Kicks 1

The Kicks controlled the play in the first quarter during which they took the lead with a goal by Amy Moody. The Cosmos tied it up in the final quarter when Denise Morey booted in the ball, and the game ended in a hard fought tie, with both teams splitting the points. BOW: the entire Cosmos and Kicks line-up for a great effort.

Diplomats 1 - Timbers 1

The game was called at half-time due to the heavy downpour but by that time both teams had tallied once, and the contest ended in a tie, with both teams getting one point apiece. Debby Freeman tallied for the Timbers in the first quarter on a pass from Erin Fuller; Debbie Williams tied it up for the Diplomats in the second and final quarter. BOW: Vicki Anderson and Stephanie Kuo (Diplomats) as well as Erin Fuller, Stacey Dauber (Timbers).

WhiteCaps 0 - Sounders 0

The strong winds made things rather difficult for both teams to find the range and get themselves on the scoreboard. At the end of the final quarter, the score was still 0-0, and the game ended in a tie, with each team getting one point. BOW: Sarah Horton, Kerin Gangi and Sarah Grecoe (Whitecaps) as well as Jane Sullivan, Shaleen Cassily and Amy Piazza (Sounders).

Tornadoes 1 - Lancers 0

Both teams made some fine attempts to score throughout the contest, but alert goalkeeping denied the efforts with the exception of the one goal booted in by Merri Puglia on a pass from Maia Medler, which won the victory for the Tornadoes. BOW: Miranda Spieler and Jennifer Hastings (Tornadoes) as well as Sarah Little and Stephanie Checkik (Lancers).

Aztecs 5

North Andover Terrapins 0

In a contest with a less experienced North Andover line-up, the Aztecs found the range on five occasions in the first three quarters (Mary Ellen Torrisi on a pass from Michelle Soreff, Michelle Meli on a pass from Joan Asgeirsson, Hakika Keith (2), one on a pass from Tahisa Paul, and Vicki Meli direct). The spirited Terrapins played a strong final quarter but were not able to get on the scoreboard. BOW: Anne Comstock and Rosemary Torrisi (Aztecs) as well as Kerri Haesy and Kerry Austin (Terrapins).

Under 12 Division

Sunderland 4 - Ipswich 4

The lead flipped back and forth throughout the contest; as one team tallied, the other would tie it up. When the final whistle blew, each team had scored four goals, and the game ended in a hard fought tie. Scoring for Ipswich were Geoff Bolan (2), one on a pass from Mike Cox Scott Friese on a pass from Geoff Bolan, and David Bartle unassisted. Dave Pratt scored two for Sunderland, on passes from Eric Friedenson and Sung Park, as well as Jamie O'Brien, one on a pass from Greg Kinsky. BOW: Goalies David Kaplowitz and Dennis Sampson (Sunderland) as well as goalie Lance Kallfelz, Raj Sheel and Bill Dutton (Ipswich).

Coventry 4 - Blackpool 1

The Coventry forwards made things difficult for the defense in the first two quarters and they tallied four goals to take a commanding lead (Chris Sapuppo on a pass from Chris Abell, Danny O'Brien, and Wayne Crowninshield (2), one on a pass from Chris Sapuppo). Blackpool did get on the scoreboard in the third quarter when Chris Poor booted in the ball on a pass from Scott Wilkins, but they were still down at the final whistle. BOW: David Rehe and Brian Worcester (Blackpool) as well as David Penney and Jon Pedecino (Coventry).

Crystal Palace 3 - Liverpool 2

Liverpool took the lead in the first quarter when Matt Murphy scored on a ball deflected by the goalie from a pass by Cort Pomeroy. Crystal Palace, the division leaders, played a very strong third quarter and tallied three quick goals (Tom DeLeire on passes from Jay DuHadway and Mike Winters, Jay DuHadway on a pass from Matt McKinnon, and Henning Ohlenbusch on a pass from Mike Winters) to give them the lead. Liverpool were awarded a penalty shot in the final quarter following a tripping call, which Matt Murphy completed, however, they were still one down at the final whistle, and the Crystal Palace players won their sixth straight victory. well as goalie Mike Moriarty and Dean Knight (Crystal Palace).

Leeds 3 - Manchester 0

Anxious for their first win of the season, Leeds played aggressively throughout much of the contest. Good defense denied them any successful shots in the first two quarters, however, they kept the ball in the Manchester end throughout much of the final quarters and emerged the victors with three goals booted in by Barry Tucker, Mike O'Connor on passes from Scott MacIntire and Eric McDowell, and John Slavin on passes from Dan Grecoe and Scott MacIntire. BOW: Ben Wangerin and Chris Workman (Leeds).

Chelsea 2 - Arsenal 1

Chelsea took the lead in the second quarter when Mark Neaves tallied on a fine pass by Matt Shine. Arsenal tied it up in the same quarter when Ryan Murphy scored on a pass from Mike Hardock. In the final quarter, Chelsea increased their lead following a scramble in front of the net (Scott Plamondon assisted by Shawn Kravetz), and they won the victory points. BOW: John Adams, Ted Cormier and John Driscoll (Chelsea).

Flickers 4 - Sparrows 0

The Sparrows kept the ball in the Flickers end throughout much of the contest, however, they could never find the range. The Flickers on the other hand, once they broke away and carried the ball to the Sparrows goal zone, did get the ball into the nets on four occasions and they won the points. Susan Clark scored twice for the Flickers, once on a pass from Suzanne Karp, and Denise Doran and Karen Pike made it four on passes from Susan Clark, Karen Pike and Beth Hughes. BOW: Carolyn Tiberi and Jahna Boutin (Flickers) as well as Karen Bates, Katy Murphy and Buffy Kaplan (Sparrows).

Finches 1 - Warblers 1

The Warblers tallied in the first quarter to take the lead when Caroline Pool found the range. In the third quarter, Marci Lebowitz scored on a pass from Jennifer Hechemy, to make it a tie for the Finches as the game was then called due to the terrible weather conditions. BOW: Sandy Pelc and Sharon Worcester (Finches) as well as Beth Ostrowski, Judy Petty and Jennifer Surrent (Warblers).

Under 14 & 16 Division

Andover Munich 8 North Andover Dakotas 1

Playing a less experienced North Andover line-up, the Andover Munich team did not find it very difficult to tally goals, a total of eight before the final whistle. Scoring for Andover were Sandy MacNeish, Jeff Ashworth (4) on passes from Jon Stammers, Harold Gillam and Peter Guschov direct. North Andover did tally one goal in the second quarter to deny Andover the shut-out. BOW: Peter Guschov and Mike Convey (Munich).

Osprey 3 - Hawks 1

The Osprey took the lead when Ann Abele scored; Aimee Ross tied it up for the Hawks in the same quarter. The Osprey continued to put on the pressure and with two more goals in the second and final quarter, they won the victory points. BOW: Kathy Kimball, Michelle Belisle and Margaret Easton (Hawks).

Gets Grant

The Fogg Art Museum has been awarded a grant of $35,000 from the Institute of Museum Services (IMS), an agency of the U.S. Department of Education. The Fogg was one of 405 museums selected from more than 1,500 applicants which submitted proposals to the Institute. This is the third IMS grant the Fogg has received; the Museum received another $25,000 grant last year and a grant of $24,936 in 1978.

The Institute of Museum Services, now in its third year, is the first Federal agency authorized to provide general operating support, as well as project support, to museums. Besides supporting art museums like the Fogg, the Institute grants funds to a wide range of other kinds of museums, including natural history museums, zoos, botanical gardens, science and technology centers, aquariums planetariums, and a wide range of specialized museums and historic houses.

Last halloween the residents of this state had a horrible trick played on them by their legislators.

A 15% legislative pay raise. It was sneaked in during the dead of the night.

The pay hike received little opposition. State Senator Bob Buell fought hard against it. Outnumbered, he failed.

But his actions that night should be remembered when you go to the polls on November 4. Because Bob Buell is running for re-election. Vote for him. He's one state senator who won't play tricks on you.

Squirt A's Danver's League Andover 6 - Masco 5

In a strong offensive effort, Andover came from behind late in the third period to take the game away from Masco. The first period started with Andover putting early pressure on Masco. The line of Brent Raftery, Glen Farnham and Steve McSweeney struck first. Glen got a break and swung into Masco's zone unbothered. As the defense converged, he put the puck on Brent Raftery's stick and Brent put it past the Masco goalie. On the next face-off, Masco moved in and put the puck in our net. For the next four minutes, Andover put tremendous pressure on Masco's goalie who met every challenge. During this period of time, the line of Johnny Gilmartin, Matt Adams and Pat McNamara had the best opportunities. Masco's wings had been playing near the blue line and an errant puck was picked up and brought into Andover's end and a screen shot was successful. However, the pressure and momentum was still with Andover. It looked like the period would end with Masco in the lead and a penalty in the final minute of play on Andover seemed to seal our fate. Strong offensive play by Robert Stoltz and Pat Breen, as well as strong defensive play by Tom Tormey and Joey Lyons, led to a short handed goal. With the puck in Andover's end, Robert pushed the puck past Masco's defense. Pat Breen hustled to pick it up and put a strong shot past Masco's goalie. The period ended in a 2 to 2 tie. While the score was equal, Andover dominated the positional play and put seven shots on net to Masco's three.

The second period saw Andover increase the pressure. While all the lines peppered Masco's goalie early, he was up to the task. On one of the assaults, the puck got past Andover's defense and a hanging Masco wing broke into Andover's end alone. Masco scored quickly and on a similar play, less than two minutes later, they did it again. Down by two goals, Andover's defense dug in and the offense became more determined. Offensively, the pressure put on by Pat Breen, Robert Stoltz and Doug Bleszinski was outstanding. On their final shift in the period, the puck never left Masco's end. Robert Stoltz put a shot directly on Masco's goalie. The deflection went to Pat Breen who put a good shot in the net. The period ended with Masco leading 4 to 3. This is no indication of the play. Andover's offense put 15 shots on net and, if they could sustain the effort, it was just a matter of time before the Masco goalie would fold. Masco only managed three shots on net for the period. Peter Donegan and Hugh Maginnis continually kept the puck away or took it away from the Masco team. Two breakaways cost us in the period, but the team did not let down and took back the momentum.

The third period opened with Masco getting another early break. Goalie Ian Anderson made a good initial save, but the puck came straight back to the trailing wing, who put it over our down goalie. That was the last time, during this period, that Masco shot on our goalie. Peter Donegan, Hugh Maginnis, Tom Tormey and Joey Lyons teamed up to shut off the Masco offense and continually got the puck out of our zone to the offense. On one play, Pat Breen, on a super effort, took the puck away from a Masco defensive man and skated in on their goalie and scored. During this period, the line of Pat McNamara, John Gilmartin and Matt Adams had several good scoring bids but again were frustrated. The pressure continued with the puck out in front of the Masco net, but Doug Bleszinski and Robert Stoltz weren't able to put it in. One of the attempts went behind the net on the right where Pat Breen picked it up and swung around the back of the net and slipped it past Masco's goalie. Andover had worked hard and finally tied the game on Pat Breen's fourth goal (a hat trick plus one). With four minutes left, Andover went ahead on a fine effort by Brent Raftery, Glen Farnham and Steve McSweeney. Steve scored on a scramble in front of the net. Masco pulled their goalie in the last minute and Andover successfully held Masco off. Andover came away with a hard fought and well deserved victory. Total shots by Andover were 32 to Masco's 8.

Squirt A's Wilmington League Andover 4 - Winthrop 8

Andover played a strong first period against a strong Winthrop team. Tom Tormey stood out on his defensive effort throughout the period. Joey Lyons, Peter Donegan and Hugh Maginnis contributed substantially on defense also. While not many offensive opportunities presented themselves, the hard working line of Pat Breen, Robert Stoltz and Doug Bleszinski was able to put one by Winthrop's goalie midway through the period. Doug coming in from the left, hit Robert with a nice pass on the right. Robert hit the Winthrop goalie with a hard shot that bounced in front where Pat Breen picked it up and put it in. Winthrop put substantial pressure on Ian Anderson, Andover's goalie, who rejected ten shots on net. The period ended with Andover ahead 1 to 0.

The second period continued in the same way. The defensive pairing of Tom Tormey and Joey Lyons made some very good plays, but the offense was unable to capitalize on them. The line of John Gilmartin, Matt Adams and Pat McNamara had their best opportunities during this period. Winthrop's defense was caught up, but their goalie was able to make the saves. Winthrop continued to press and got two quick goals at the eight and seven minute mark of the period. Both were second shots on Ian. Play continued with Winthrop getting the best of positional play. At four minutes, Winthrop got a fortunate goal. This was followed by Andover's best offensive effort. Pat Breen started to split the Winthrop defense when they tripped him. With the power play, we were unable to score. The period ended with the score 3 to 1 in Winthrop's favor. Ian Anderson made eight additional saves in the period.

The third period pace picked up, and the skating was wide open. Andover struck first at the ten minute mark. Pat Breen sent a pass to Robert Stoltz who swung right and put a nice shot on Winthrop's goalie. The bounce went to Doug Bleszinski, who slipped it in. Peter Donegan and Hugh Maginnis played well during this period, and shut down several Winthrop rushes. Midway through the period, with the score 3 to 2, Winthrop's pressure finally paid off and they scored twice within the space of a minute. With six minutes left, the line of Pat Breen, Robert Stoltz and Doug Bleszinski, putting on the usual pressure, scored. Robert and Doug, out in front of Winthrop's goalie, took turns shooting from point blank range. Doug scored and Robert got his third assist (earning him a playmaker patch). Winthrop managed two goals in the next four minutes, both of which were deflections. At two minutes, the line of Glen Farnham, Brent Raftery and Steve McSweeney scored. While they had several good rushes during the game, this was the only one that paid off. It took hard work, but Steve finally scored with the assist going to Brent. Winthrop struck last on a nice play. Shots on net were even at eight each. However, Winthrop outshot Andover 29 to 14. Andover's goalie, Ian Anderson, stopped 21 good shots on net by a strong Winthrop team.

defeated Agawam 3-1. The score could have been much higher for Andover if Agawam's goalie had not come up with several excellent stops. Coach Larry DiStefano's line juggling paid off. Andover goalies Michelle DiStefano and Michael Murnane both played very well.

Todd Roycroft scored Andover's first goal in the second period from a scramble in front. Assists went to David Sopp and D.J. Camarota. The goal came after this line, backed by the good point play of defensemen Chip Stella and Timmy Sullivan had put a lot of pressure on Agawam. Later in the period, Eddie Chaisson and Jonathan Shine combined for a near goal but the shot went just wide. Andover's second and third goals came off the stick of Matt Pothier. Both went unassisted, but the play of Matt's linemates, Michael DiStefano and Gary Bleszinski, helped set the scores up. Eric Cutler and Jimmy Morris skated well in the game and like several teammates, saw good scoring bids go wide or get stopped by the Agawam goalie. Agawam's attempts to pressure Andover's goalies were stopped throughout the game by the good play of Andover defensemen Danny Iandoli and Michael Tiberii.

Pee Wee A Cambridge 3 - Andover 2 Andover 2 - Ipswich 2

The Pee Wee A's ten game unbeaten streak came to an end on Saturday as they lost to Cambridge 3-2. Andover did not play a very inspired game despite outshooting Cambridge 32-19. Cambridge scored when the game was less than a minute old and built up a 3-0 before Andover scored in the third period. Goal scorers for Andover were Mark Neaves and David Bartle.

On Sunday, Andover showed signs of returning to the solid play which led to the ten game win streak. Goalie Greg Najjar played an excellent game for Andover, coming up with a series of tough saves which insured the 2-2 tie against Ipswich. The first period of the game was scoreless. Andover's Mark Neaves-Georgie Heseltine-Stevie Donovan line had several chances to score but the Ipswich goalie kept them off the board. The first goal of the game came early in the second period when Jamie O'Brien scored to finish off a nice two on one breakout with Mark Neaves. Mark earned an assist on the play. Andover center David Young and winger Timmy Donovan also had good shots turned away by the Ipswich goaltender before the period ended with a 1-0 Andover lead.

The third period was as fast moving and action packed as 12 minutes of hockey at any level. Andover dominated, particularly when David Bartle, Mosa Kaleel and Cort Pomeroy were out but it was Ipswich who scored twice for a 2-1 lead. Cort Pomeroy finally tied it up at 2-2 with 1:02 left when he banged in a rebound. Andover's four defensemen, David Curtis, Paul Gilmartin, Shannon McCabe and Matt Shine, deserve a special note, as each had to play every other shift in a very tiring game and each played very well.

PeeWee B Team Danvers League Andover 5 - Triton 0

The PeeWee Bs won their first four games in Danvers Division II by such lopsided scores that the Commissioners moved them up to Division I. And in this first game in the stronger division, they continued to look good, playing about 30 minutes of a 36 minute game in Triton's end of the ice. Only toward the end of the third period was Triton able to mount any sustained offense, and then Chris Hansberry made some fine saves in goal. Along with Tim Adams, who was in goal for the first half of the game, Chris gave the PeeWees their third shutout of the young season.

Chris Sapuppo, who had missed several games with a shoulder injury, was back with his old linemates, center Matt Alden and wing Peter Trede, and together they did some fine offensive work.

The onesided score doesn't really show the strong defense and tremendous goaltending Triton provided, and which kept Andover from blowing them away with a high powered offense. Despite an almost total domination, it took Andover almost five minutes to get on the board. Matt Young, Mark Berberian and Kyle McCabe, along with defenseman Mark Needham, kept the puck loose directly in front of Triton's net for almost a full minute, in such a maze of skates and sticks that only the players on the ice could be sure of how the first goal got scored. It was McCabe who drove the puck under the goalie, with assists to Young and Needham.

Andover's defensemen do such a fine job of controlling play at the blue line so the forwards can free-wheel in the zone, that it seems only fair that they get in on the scoring. And tonight it was John Gangi's turn, as he moved into the slot to pick up a deflected shot and rifle the puck back past the goalie. Young and Berberian picked up assists on John's goal.

In the second period, McCabe picked up his second goal, driving back a blocked shot with the assist to Young. And twenty seconds later, Mike Nelligan drifted through the crease, picked up Bill Bruno's deflected shot and lifted a little backhand over the fallen goalie for Andover's fourth tally. Dan Hagerty, playing wing on this line, did a lot of hard work, controlling the puck along the boards and setting up offensive rushes.

In the third period, a Triton wing got by the defense, but great pursuit by Brian Gibson and Tom Herling forced him to the side and Hansberry managed to steer the shot into the corner, saving the shutout.

Andover's last goal was a classic, Herling sending away Berberian with a pass out of the zone from the right to the left side. Herling slid the puck back in to Young breaking down the center to move in alone and drive a hard wrist shot into the net.

The most points scored by an NBA team in a single game was when Boston beat Minneapolis, 173 to 139, Feb. 27, 1959.

Fall Theatre Trips

Two theatre trips have been planned through the DCS office this fall. The first is a trip to Beverly's Cabot Theatre to see live theatre magic with "LeGrand David and His Spectacular Magic Company" on Sunday, November 9; the second is a visit to Lowell's new Merrimack Regional Theatre to see "Side by Side by Sondheim" on Thursday, Dec. 4. Tickets must be reserved in advance at the Department of Community Services office, 36 Bartlet Street.

Christmas Workshops

The holiday season is fast approaching. Decorate your home with beautiful hand-crafted items that you can make yourself. The following workshops remain open for registrations at the DCS office. Spaces are limited.

Adults: Christmas Calico Workshops — 3 weeks, begins on Tuesday, Nov. 18; Christmas Tree Ornaments — Nov. 10 only and Nov. 17 only; Christmas Centerpiece Workshop — Dec. 18 only.

Children: Christmas Tree Ornaments — Grades 1-2, November 6 only; Tree Ornaments — Grades 5-6, November 6 only; Christmas Cookie — Grades 5-6, Dec. 8 only; Cookie Workshop — Grade 3-4, Dec. 9 only; Cookie Workshop — Grade 1-2, December 10 only; and Christmas Centerpiece — Grade 5-6, December 13 only. For additional information contact the DCS office.

Nature Walk

The Sunday, Nov. 2 nature walk will take place over the Ward Reservation. The walk is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. and end at 4 p.m. Maps for this and the remaining guided trip through some of Andover's best conservation lands are now available at Moor and Mountain on Park Street and the DCS office at the Stowe School. In cases of inclement weather, walks will be cancelled. There is no fee for this program. It is open to the public.

Men's Basketball League

The 1980-81 Men's Basketball League season begins on Thursday, Nov. 6. The six teams in the senior division will begin regular season play on this date, while the junior division will engage in the first part of a three week pre-season schedule. Opponents and game times will appear in this column throughout the basketball season.

Rec Park Tennis Courts

The lights at the Rec Park tennis courts will be shut off for the season on Monday, Nov. 10. Nets at the facility will be taken down after Thanksgiving.

Open Gym Cancellations

Due to a variety of events being held at the East and West Junior High School, and the high school, open gyms have been cancelled on the following dates: East Jr. High School: Wednesday, Nov. 5; Friday, Nov. 7; Friday, Nov. 14; West Jr. High School: Friday, Dec. 12; high school: Sunday, Nov. 2; Monday, Nov. 3; Tuesday, Nov. 4; Thursday, Nov. 20.

Sunday Open Gym

The gymnastics section of the high school gym will be opened in late November. A qualified supervisor will be on hand to help instruct individuals on how to safely use the equipment and how to improve their gymnastics skills.

YBA Hoop League To Register

YBA basketball, the game that attracted more than 100,000 children nationwide, will again be offered at the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A. to members and non-members alike. Registration is now open.

"YBA basketball at the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A. has proven that kids are attracted to a quality sports program that puts the emphasis on participation not on the win-at-any-cost aspect. It's a great experience for kids, parents and other adults involved," said Paul Swindlehurst, "Y" physical director.

A special introduction to the YBA program will be held this Saturday, Nov. 1, from 1 to 2 p.m. This event, called the "First Whistle" will feature a film explaining the program's philosophy, a "fair play" discussion, explanation of practice and game schedule and a question and answer session. The "First Whistle" will be held at the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A., 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

For additional information, contact Paul Swindlehurst at the "Y".

Wilt Chamberlain holds the all-time NBA record for the most minutes played. The former star logged 47,859 minutes of playing time.

Outing Club Conducts Trips

The Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A. Adult Outing Club has gone on several trips during the fall months. Destinations have included visits to such places as Mount Mousilauke for a day hike, Franconia Notch for a weekend camping trip and Martha's Vineyard for a weekend bicycle trip.

The group has approximately 15 members representing towns and communities of the Greater Lawrence area. Those who have shown interest in the club are Tim Jackson, Jane Risch, John Bentley, Tom and Jean Donovan, John Mitchell, Larry and Naomi Rooney, Dean Hotham, Bill Toomey, Chuck Pelz, Jim Tracy, Rosalie Famolare, Robert Marcus and Lynne Donahue.

Several trips are scheduled for the upcoming months with a planning meeting scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 29 at 8:15 p.m. to finalize the details.

Anyone interested in joining the club should contact Ed Neill or try to attend the meeting.

Children's Tours

"Boston By Little Feet," a 90-minute walking tour for youngsters 6 to 12, is held Sundays through October 30 at 2 p.m. Accompany adults are required. Meeting place is the rear plaza of 60 State St., near "Where's Boston?" Walk includes games and activities.

Girls Soccer Team Splits Two

Andover High's Girls Varsity Soccer team split a pair of games again last week, losing 3-1 to Lexington, but recovering for a 7-1 win over Wakefield.

Lexington

Everyone played well against Lexington, a team Andover had lost to 7-0 in their previous encounter.

Heather Thompson scored Andover's one goal on a penalty shot, while Julie Kinsky was also outstanding offensively.

Connie Corkery made 21 saves, including a penalty shot save.

Wakefield

Davynne Williams scored three goals and Heather Thompson two, pacing the Andover team to their Wakefield victory.

Thompson scored her first goal unassisted in the first quarter, with Cyndi Lee scoring from Julie Kinsky in the same period.

Thompson scored in the second period from Kim Hardock, and fed Williams for his goal, for a total of four before the first half was up.

Kim Hardock provided the third quarter's only score, on a pass from Karen Hardock, and Davynne Williams added two, both from Connie Corkery in the fourth period.

Connie Corkery had 16 saves before she was replaced late in the third quarter by Lele Rochwarg, who had added five saves herself.

The Wakefield defense put on a unified effort, pulling the aggressive Andover forwards offside 29 times during the game.

Season Scoring

	G-A-Pt
Heather Thompson	7-1-8
Davynne Williams	5-2-7
Karen Hardock	2-4-6
Goalie Connie Corkery has a total of 116 saves versus 27 goals against, for an 81 percent.

Easter Seal Aquathon Scheduled

The Annual Easter Seal Aquathon will take place at the Greater Lawrence Vocational School, River Road, West Andover, Sunday, Nov. 9, from 4-6 p.m. Any swimmer, any age, is invited to participate.

To register for this event contact the Easter Seal office, Railroad Street, Andover, weekday mornings.

This Aquathon is one of many activities planned statewide by the Easter Seal Society to benefit the physically handicapped from all over Massachusetts with many from the Lawrence area.

Swimmers will solicit sponsors who pledge an amount of money for each length of the pool swum in a fifteen minute period. After the swim, the contributions will be collected by the swimmers from their sponsors.

A grand prize of a deluxe weekend for two to Montreal will be awarded to the aquathon swimmer who raises more money than any other swimmer in the state. Swimmers raising $300 or more will be eligible for a drawing of a 13½ foot fiberglass canoe.

Local prizes include AM-FM radio donated by Zayre, dinner for two at the Ground Round, Patriots tickets, and passes to Showcase Cinema in Lawrence. Windbreakers will be given to all swimmers who raise $200 and T-shirts to those who raise $25.

The Massachusetts Easter Seal Society provides swim and camping programs and direct services to physically handicapped children and adults. Physical, occupational and speech therapists offer rehabilitation services. The Society has been involved in social action projects, housing, transportation, stroke, architectural barriers, education and legislation to better serve the needs of all handicapped people.

Extinguisher Warning

State Fire Marshal Joseph A. O'Keefe issued a warning today that certain obsolete fire extinguishers manufactured by the Bernzomatic Corporation of Medina, N.Y. (formerly of Rochester, N.Y.) are capable of exploding. The "Bernzomatic Foam Fire Extinguisher" Model FE 18UL was manufactured in 1970 and subsequently recalled by the Consumer Product Safety Commission on August 29, 1974 due to safety defects inherent in the unit. It appears that the foam solution in the extinguisher corrodes the cylinder, increasing the likelihood of rupture.

The units recalled are red with "Bernzomatic Foam Fire Extinguisher" in white letters. They measure approximately 7½ inches in length and 3 inches in diameter. "Model FE 18UL" appears in the center of the back label with the date 1970 in the upper left-hand corner.

Instances of the extinguisher exploding have recently occurred in Orange and Marblehead, Massachusetts. Fire Marshal O'Keefe strongly urges anyone possessing this model fire extinguisher should immediately discharge its contents. Inquiries may be addressed to the Bernzomatic Corporation, Onley Street, Medina, N.Y. 14103.

Concert Season Opens

Concerts in Black & White will present the first concert of its Fourth Season on Sunday, Nov. 2 at 3 p.m. at Trinity Church, Copley Square. With the performance, Concerts in Black & White welcomes Ronald Arnatt, new organist and Director of Music at Trinity Church.

The program for Nov. 2 includes Benjamin Britten's "Simple Symphony," Mozart's Serenade No. 4 with Concertmistress Sophia Vilker as soloist; and Poulenc's Organ Concert with Ronald Arnatt, new organist and director of music at Trinity, soloist. Also, the Boston premiere of George Walker's "Lyric for Strings" will be presented under the auspices of the Minority Composers Performance Project.

The November 2 Concert is the first of five concerts in the Concert Orchestra's season. On January 11, the Billy Taylor Trio will be guest artists in a program entitled Classical Jazz. The concert will also feature the world premiere of a piano concerto by Massachusetts composer Fred Tillis, as well as Schubert's Symphony No. 4 in C Minor ("Tragic"), and Stravinsky's "Firebird" Suite in the 1919 performing version.

The Second Annual Concert of Unity will be held at Symphony Hall on Feb. 15. Soloists Donnie Ray Albert, Daisy Newman, Valerie Walters and Kim Scown will join with the Howard University Chorus, the University of Massachusetts at Boston Chorus, the Back Bay Chorale, Kodaly Center of America Chamber Chorus, and the Northeastern University Chorus to present Beethoven's 9th Symphony, as well as a specially commissioned work by composer Hale Smith.

Superhero Festival Returns

The 7th Annual New England Comic Art Convention (NEW CON) Captain America Superheroes' Festival, featuring the largest area gathering of comic book and science fiction dealers and illustrators, will be held Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 15 and 16, at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel's third floor Beacon complex.

Other convention highlights include an all-night film marathon featuring the first Boston showing of Captain America film serials from the 1940's, panel discussions, and a Superheroes costume contest.

Comic book collectors and nostalgists will have a chance to browse through the display tables of 120 dealers. Among the items displayed for sale are old and new comic books (some valued as high as $2000); "Star Wars," "Star Trek," and other science fiction souvenirs; baseball cards; and radio and TV memorabilia. Dealers' rooms will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturday, and from 10 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

The special all-night film marathon, including Dick Purcell in the 1940's Captain America serials, begins Saturday at 8 p.m.

Bond Sale Postponed

Because it would not be wise to try to sell bonds for the $11.72 million school bonding project immediately before the Nov. 4 election, sale of the bonds has been postponed indefinitely, the town manager said last week.

And, in the face of Proposition 2½, the town may be forced to consider funding the project with bond anticipation borrowing — an alternative town officials had hoped to avoid.

Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark had planned to offer the bonds for sale beginning Oct. 15, with hopes of selling them before the election. He recently told the selectmen that Massachusetts bonds may become nearly impossible to sell if 2½ passes.

However, a technical delay in preparing the prospectus pushed the starting date forward, too close to election day for the manager's comfort.

"There is too much uncertainty this close to the election," Clark explained. "It was already cutting it pretty close to begin with."

The bonds will not be put up for sale until the fate of Proposition 2½, the tax-cutting referendum question, is certain, the manager told the school building committee last Thursday night.

If the proposition is defeated — which Clark has said he does not expect to happen — the town would "go to the bond market fairly soon," he told the committee.

But if the question passes, the manager will wait to see what action the state legislature may take to amend the tax-cutting proposal.

Clark said he believes the legislators may amend 2½ to exempt the principal and interest on bonded indebtedness.

"The legislature will have to make up for a $600 million statewide loss of revenue (due to reduced property and excise taxes) somehow," he explained. "They could exempt debt and interest as one way."

That possibility is a likely one because "the financial community would be quite nervous about investing in Massachusetts without this exemption," Clark said. "This would assure the financial community of repayment of bonds."

He added that such an exemption is "a key element" in the four percent taxcap currently imposed on the cities and towns.

However, it is uncertain when the legislature will convene to amend the proposition, if it passes; so rather than delay construction — and risk increased costs due to inflation — the town will consider bond anticipation borrowing, Clark said.

Building committee member Donald Robb agreed that "it would be foolish to assume that the legislature will act within just a few weeks — there are so many debatables, it could take three or four months."

Clark said he has also decided to ask for bids for both 10 and 15-year bond issues — a move he called "unusual" — although he recently told the selectmen he would prefer to sell a 10-year issue.

The interest rate on a 10-year issue would probably be eight percent, he recently told the selectmen, compared to eight and one-half percent on a 15-year issue.

Town Meeting

that hearing advertised for two consecutive weeks in advance.

A public hearing on White's articles has been scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 5, which would not leave enough time to advertise for Gurry's article.

Town Clerk Elden Salter pointed out a further complication: the town must hold White's special meeting within 45 days of the date his petition was approved — that is, by Nov. 23.

The selectmen therefore voted three to one to move the meeting forward by three days, with Jerry Silverman abstaining and Susan Poore opposed.

A public hearing on Gurry's article will be held on Monday, Nov. 17, the date originally scheduled for the special town meeting.

The new date will give the Planning Board enough time "legally" to insert the new article on the warrant, but not enough time to adequately consider the proposal, said Director of Community Development and Planning Rhys Kear.

"That has been the position of the town all along," noted Town Manager Jared S.A. Clark, "that there is not sufficient time for the Planning Board to study these articles in time for a special meeting."

The board then voted three to one to close the warrant, with Chairman James Abramson opposed and Poore abstaining. As on a previous vote, the selectmen once again declined to insert "three or four minor housekeeping articles" proposed by the manager.

Cable TV

Shinney, counsel for Rollins. The company currently has no franchises in Massachusetts, but operates franchises in Delaware and Connecticut, and was recently awarded a license in Providence, R.I., giving them a total of more than one million subscribers.

The company proposes to install two cables in Andover, with 52 channels. Customers could "custom design" their own programming packages, Bird said, with Rollins' "flexible billing" operation that would let subscribers choose packages ranging from $2.95 to $40 per month.

The company is also offering a full color television studio for community use, to be located on the Merrimack College campus; a smaller studio at Andover High School, also for community use; and a mobile van equipped for color remote broadcasts.

Rollins plans to build a 100-foot tower on the Merrimack campus, which would require a Zoning Board of Appeals variance.

Bird said construction of the cable system, serving 100 percent of Andover homes, would be complete within 10 months of the date Rollins is granted a provisional license — the step the selectmen are about to take.

Continental Cablevision is the largest New England-based cable TV company, with franchises in Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover, and 20 other communities, said Robert Stengel, director of government affairs for Continental. The company now has 325,000 subscribers in 10 states.

Stengel said Continental's proposal is "similar in most respects" to Rollins'. However, Continental has offered 35 channels, and shared use with neighboring communities of a television studio located in Lawrence and a mobile van, rather than such equipment for Andover use alone.

The local company would use an existing tower, located on Clay Pit Hill in North Andover, Stengel said.

Continental could install the service for 100 percent of the town within 12 months of the final license, which could be granted six months from now.

In addition to questioning Rollins' financial statements, Stengel emphasized that Continental is a local company. "We are here for the long haul," he said, "and the decisions concerning Andover will be made here, and not in Delaware or Georgia."

Rollins's representative Bird, in turn, emphasized that his company is offering a "broad-based communication system of the '80s. I see no reason why you should settle for anything less."

Marine Artist Is Featured

Noted marine artist Marshall Woodside Joyce will demonstrate his special technique of painting in oils using water color methods at the Nov. 9 meeting of the Andovers Artists Guild, 7 p.m. in the Bay State Bank's meeting room (Main Street, Andover branch).

Among many honors Joyce has received are the commission by Plymouth Plantation to paint the official painting of Mayflower II when it was sailed from England by Captain Villiers. He received the Gold Medal for Distinguished Marine Art in a national competition conducted by the Franklin Mint. Recently "American Artist" Magazine selected him as one of 20 contemporary American painters to be featured in an anthology, "Twenty Landscape Artists and How they Work."

His studio is in Kingston, Mass. but he has conducted workshops in Alabama, Key West, Fla., Anchorage, Alaska, Kennebunkport, Maine, and Jackson, N. H.

His fascination with the sea comes naturally. His father was a sea captain, and, as a boy, he sailed on his father's three-masted schooner out of the Mystic River shipyards. He is named for his grandfather, Capt. Marshall Woodside who was master of the full-rigged ship, the Sintram. It was a painting of this ship which won the Franklin Mint Gold Medal.

The meeting is open to guests with the payment of a small fee. Refreshments will be served.

The deepest freshwater lake in the world, Lake Baikal in southern Siberia, reaches 5,712 feet.

Two Are United Way Executives

An Andover man and woman are taking some time off from their regular jobs, and at the same time, helping an awful lot of people.

James B. Turner, Sr. of Argilla Road and Louise F. Young of Lupine Road are both serving as "Loaned Executives" for the United Way of Massachusetts Bay in its current 1980 fund-raising campaign. They are just two of 83 men and women who have been loaned by their employers to work full-time for the United Way, helping the charitable organization reach its 1980 goal of $23.5 million.

Turner is director of group product sales for American Mutual Insurance Companies, and Young is a credit operations supervisor for New England Merchants National Bank.

Since August, when they attended a week-long training session at Harvard Business School, they have been working full-time for the United Way. Much of their activity involves working with corporate and community leaders, in helping them design and carry out effective fund-raising efforts on behalf of the United Way.

As all of the Loaned Executives are volunteers, the program is a vital one for the United Way, helping to keep operating costs to a minimum, so that much more of the money raised can be distributed to the United Way's affiliated agencies for human services.

At present, the United Way of Mass. Bay helps to support 167 affiliated agencies, which serve 86 cities and towns in eastern Mass.

The 1980 campaign for the United Way of Mass. Bay will continue through November 25.

Earnings, Sales Up At Gillette

Sales and earnings of The Gillette Company rose in the third quarter and for the nine months ended Sept. 30, Colman M. Mockler Jr., chairman and chief executive officer, said today.

Sales for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1980, were $565,723,000, compared with $505,111,000 for the same period in 1979, and increase of 12 percent. Pretax income was $53,061,000, an increase of 16 percent from $45,568,000 in 1979. Consolidated net income was $29,077,000, an increase of 15 percent from $25,227,000 in the same period last year. Earnings per share of $.96 compared with $.84 a year earlier.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, sales rose 17 percent to $1,687,127,000, compared with $1,446,157,000 in 1979. Pretax income was $175,772,000, up 15 percent from $153,022,000 for the same period in the prior year. Consolidated net income was $99,412,000, an increase of 15 percent from $86,802,000 in 1979. Earnings per share of $3.29 compared with $2.88 the year before.

Sales of Gillette North America in the third quarter rose well above last year and operating profits were higher than those of the same period a year ago. For the nine months, sales were well above last year and operating profits were strongly ahead.

Gillette International's sales and operating profits rose sharply in the quarter and for the nine months, compared with the same periods in 1979.

Sales of the Braun group were unchanged in the quarter and an operating loss was recorded compared with an operating profit in the prior year. Braun's lack of sales progress in the fiscal third quarter reflects generally sluggish trade and consumer purchasing in Germany and certain other European markets during the period. In addition to the effect of slower sales, profits were further impacted by increased manufacturing cost. For the nine months, sales were above last year but operating profits were well below the same period in 1979.

Mockler said that consolidated profit from operations rose 20 percent in the quarter and for the nine months, compared with the same periods last year.

Net interest costs were higher in the quarter and for the nine months, compared with a year ago. Exchange losses in the quarter were lower than last year and were level for the nine months.

At its meeting today, the board of directors declared a quarterly dividend of 47 1/2 cents payable Dec. 5, to stockholders of record on Nov. 3.

"If no one was home, I could have just gone ahead and measured it anyway," she explains. She also notes, on the yellow card filled out for every property, that it is a flagstone patio.

She pulls up in front of another home, where no one answers the door. Because it is the second visit, she hangs a pink card on the doorknob.

Sheldon points out that the sketch of the house, which is included on every record, shows even the tiny front doorstep. Just measuring a house can take anywhere from "two minutes to an hour and a half," she says.

The third stop is the Ballou home, where Margie Ballou cordially welcomes Sheldon inside after checking her identification. "I don't see any advantage to not letting them in," Ballou explains to a visitor.

After a tour of the house that takes less than ten minutes, Sheldon asks if a backyard tennis court outside belongs to the property. With Ballou's permission,

The town's fire and casualty insurance will continue to be handled through the Smart and Flagg agency, the selectmen decided this week. Their written decision apparently cut short attempts of five other agents in the community to hold a meeting with the selectmen and a representative of Smart and Flagg after the present policies had been studied by the non-writing agents.

Young ecologists are trying to preserve the Andover sanitary disposal site for a few more years and also to recycle papers and periodicals, thus saving forests. Upsets in local contests and ballot problems featured the state election here Tuesday as an astonishingly large 80 percent of the registered voters cast ballots. Upsets occurred in the 13th and 17th Essex representative districts with James P. Hurrell of West Andover defeating Representative Paul W. Cronin in the former district, and political novice William G. Arrantis topping veteran legislator Representative Lawrence P. Smith in the latter area.

Data collectors spend two weeks in a classroom, being trained to observe and record the characteristics of a house. They do not note furnishings, but only what a buyer would pay for, Tworek says — the floors, walls and ceilings.

Each collector has a quota of 25 homes to see every day, says Sheldon. "Some days, nobody is home. But other days, you can't get anything done because everyone is home."

After leaving pink cards on two more doorknobs, Sheldon starts walking towards another house, but stops short halfway up the long driveway. "Oops, we can't go here," she says, reading the card. "This is a refusal. And once we get a refusal, we don't come back, or they get upset."

She must still grade the house, but finds it nearly impossible because it is almost entirely obscured by trees. "We can't even measure once we get a refusal," she notes.

But, says Tworek, most homeowners "are very eager to show us around. They open doors for us and say, where do you want to start?"

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING
THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
ESSEX, SS.

To either of the Constables of the Town of Andover

Greeting:

In the name of the Commonwealth you are hereby required to notify and warn the Inhabitants of said Town who are qualified to vote in Town Affairs to meet and assemble at the Memorial Auditorium, Bartlet Street, in said Andover, on at 7:30 o'clock P.M. to act upon the following articles:

ARTICLE 1. To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning By-Law by

I. creating a new class of zoning district to be designated as Townhouse Cluster District by adding to Section III, A, 1 the following:

TC — Townhouse Cluster

II. inserting after Section VI, M, Section VI, N, as follows:

N — Multi-Dwelling District

TC — Townhouse Cluster

I. GENERAL OBJECTIVES

The TC District is intended to allow greater flexibility in land use planning for the development of tracts of land in terms of density preservation of open spaces, utilization of natural features, provision of municipal services and providing a variety of housing types and styles; to ensure that site development plans will be presented to the Town Meeting in connection with a proposal to rezone a tract of land to TC; and to enable the Planning Board to require adherence to such site development plans in the granting of a special permit as hereinafter described.

2. COMPLIANCE WITH SCHEDULE OF DIMENSIONAL CONTROLS

Any development permitted as a TC district shall comply with the Schedule of Dimensional Controls for TC district as follows:

Minimum set backs from exterior lot lines:

Front 60 feet
Side and Rear 50 feet

Minimum set back from interior streets; 25 feet
Minimum distance between buildings: 30 feet

Interior drives within a TC development shall be designed to such street standards as the Planning Board may require in accordance with its Rules and Regulations governing the subdivision of land, except that a minor street shall serve up to twenty dwelling units.

3. COMPLIANCE WITH OTHER RULES AND REGULATIONS

Nothing contained herein shall in any way exempt a proposed subdivision in a TC district from compliance with the rules and regulations of the Planning Board, nor shall it in any way affect the right of the Board of Health and of the Planning Board to approve, with or without modifications, or disapprove a subdivision plan in accordance with the provisions of such rules and regulations and of the subdivision control law.

4. TOWN MEETING PRESENTATION

Every proposal presented to the Town Meeting for rezoning land to a TC zone shall include a site development plan which shall show in a general manner, drawn to scale, the proposed location, for proposed building and other structures, proposed locations, design and dimensions of streets, drives, parking areas and other paved areas, and the open space. The site development plan shall show the proposed dwelling unit density, and the extent of open space or shall be accompanied by a tabulation of the same. A copy of the site development plan, which shall be deemed to include any literature and commitments, authorized by the developer which has been presented to Town Meeting shall be filed with the Town Clerk before the vote and shall be part of the site development plan.

5. PARKING SPACE

There shall be provided at least 1½ parking spaces per dwelling unit, located in parking lots or in garages or under or within buildings which contain dwelling units.

6. PERMITTED HOUSING TYPES

Permissible housing types include all single and multiple-occupancy housing types used for human occupancy. Any type of ownership may be permitted.

7. OPEN SPACE REQUIREMENTS

At least 25 per cent of the total area or two acres of such tract, whichever is greater, shall, except as provided below, remain unbuilt upon and set aside for conservation, outdoor recreation or park purposes or buffer areas. Such open land shall be in addition to required front, side and rear yards and may be in one or more parcels of a size and shape appropriate for the intended use and may be conveyed either to and accepted by the Town or its Conservation Commission, to a legal association comprised of the homeowners within such tract, or to a non-profit organization the principal purpose of which is the conservation of open space. Such open land shall be included in the total tract area for the purpose of computing dwelling unit density of the tract. When such open land is conveyed to persons other than the Town of Andover, the Town shall be granted an easement over such land sufficient to insure its perpetual use as conservation, recreation or park land or buffer area. A maximum of 20 percent of such open land may be devoted to paved areas and structures used for or accessory to active outdoor recreation and consistent with the open spaces uses of such land.

8. PLANNING BOARD REPORT TO TOWN MEETING

The Planning Board, in its report to the Town Meeting, required by law, shall include its opinion of whether or not the proponent has prepared sufficient data to give reasonable assurance that the development will conform to the site development plan with respect to the location, layout and design of proposed buildings, drives, and streets, to the density, type and design of floor plans and dwelling units, and with respect to the anticipated selling price or rental (as the case may be), if included in the presentation to Town Meeting.

9. SPECIAL PERMIT APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

The application to the Planning Board for a special permit under this section shall be accompanied by the following plans and supporting materials:

a. Plan of the tract showing topography, existing streets and structures within and contiguous to the tract.

b. Where a subdivision of land is involved, a preliminary subdivision plan, which may be combined with the plan required under the preceding paragraph.

c. Site development plans showing the proposed grading of the tract and the proposed locations, dimensions, materials and types of construction of streets, drives, parking areas, walks, paved areas, utilities, open space, planting, screening, landscaping and other improvements and the locations and outlines of proposed buildings.

d. Preliminary architectural drawings for building plans including typical floor plans, elevations and sections.

e. A tabulation of proposed buildings by type, size (number of rooms, floor area), ground coverage and summary showing the percentages of the tract to be occupied by buildings, parking and other paved vehicular areas, and the amount of open space.

f. An order of conditions issued by the Conservation Commission or a determination by the Conservation Commission that conditions are not necessary.

10. DIFFERENT SITE DEVELOPMENT PLANS

In the event that a developer proposes to develop a tract of land in a TC District according to site development plans which the Planning Board determines are substantially different from the site development plans presented at the time the Town Meeting voted to include such land in the TC District, such different site development plans shall first be presented to and receive the approval of the Town Meeting by a vote of two-thirds of those present and voting, prior to any action thereon by the Planning Board.

11. SPECIAL PERMIT PROVISIONS

The Planning Board may grant a special permit for the development of any tract of land in a TC district, based on a determination that the proposed development will be consistent with the development as approved by the Town Meeting and consistent with the general objectives of the TC District development, and subject to the following standards:

a. The special permit shall incorporate by reference building design and site development plans presented to the Town Meeting. The Planning Board may, in its discretion, permit deviations from the site development plans presented to the Town Meeting, provided, however, that the Board shall not permit any increase in the dwelling unit density. In no event shall dwelling unit density exceed four units per acre.

b. The Planning Board may permit the construction and use of facilities such as a community center or recreation center, including but not limited to swimming and tennis facilities, primarily for the use of residents of the tract, if the Board determines that the inclusion of such facilities would be appropriate by reason of such factors as the size of the tract, the number of its residents and its geographical location.

c. In granting a special permit, the Planning Board shall impose as a condition thereof that the installation of municipal services and construction of interior drives within the TC development shall comply with the requirements of the Planning Board's Rules and Regulations Governing the Subdivision of Land, and may impose such additional conditions and safeguards as public safety, welfare and convenience may require, except that a minor street shall be able to serve up to twenty dwelling units.

12. AMENDMENT AND REVISION OF SPECIAL PERMIT

a. Amendment

The Planning Board upon application by the developer and after a public hearing, may amend a special permit previously granted, but only in accordance with the standards hereinbefore set out.

b. Revision

Subsequent to a special permit granted by the Planning Board under the provisions of this section, minor revisions may be made from time to time in accordance with applicable laws, by-laws and regulations, but the development under such special permit shall otherwise be in accordance with the submission accompanying the developer's application for a special permit.

13. DENIAL OF SPECIAL PERMIT

The Planning Board may deny any application for special permit hereunder and base its denial upon:

a. A failure to meet the standards established by this section of the By-Law.

b. A finding that the proposed development does not substantially conform to the plans for the development of the tract presented to the Town Meeting in connection with the proposed rezoning of the tract to TC.

ON PETITION OF SIDNEY P. WHITE AND OTHERS

ARTICLE 2. To see if the Town will vote to amend the Zoning By-Law by changing the Zoning Classification of two certain parcels shown as Parcels #4 and #4G on Assessors' Map 93 from Single Residence B to TC (Townhouse Cluster).
ON PETITION OF SIDNEY P. WHITE AND OTHERS

ARTICLE 3. To see if the Town will vote to amend the Andover Zoning By-law as amended so as to see if the Town will vote to amend and to change from Single Resident (sic) "A" to General Business Zone a tract of land with all buildings thereon of H. William Gurry Trustee (sic) of Clover Leaf Realty Trust situated in said Andover, located at 131 Main Street, and being shown on "Survey of Land in Andover, Mass., for Rose A. Chapman, August 1925, D. W. Clark, C. E." duly recorded with North Essex Registry of Deeds as Plan #617, bounded and described as follows:

Northeasterly by Main Street, 65.24 feet; southeasterly by Morton Street, 53.6 feet; southwesterly by land now or formerly of Chandler, 45.75 feet; northwesterly by the same, 4.25 feet; southwesterly by the same, 21 feet; and northwesterly by land now or formerly of Davidson and a four (4) foot right of way, 49 feet.

Said parcel is shown as Parcel 11 on Assessors Map 40 and is presently zoned Single Residence "A".

ON PETITION OF H. WILLIAM GURRY AND OTHERS

And you are directed to serve this warrant by posting attested copies and publication thereof fourteen days at least before the time and place of said meeting as directed by the Bylaws of the Town.

Hereof fail not, and make return of this warrant with your doings thereon, at the time and place of said meeting.

Bank Name Changes Saturday

Effective Nov. 1, Essex Broadway Savings Bank will be changing its name to First Essex Savings Bank. Founded in 1847, it is the largest savings institution serving the Greater Lawrence area. John P. Fitzpatrick, president of the bank, stated that, "The new name was chosen to further streamline our image and to position us as an innovative, broad-based financial institution for the decade of the 80's."

At the same time, Fitzpatrick noted the bank will continue to follow its long standing tradition of personalized customer service. He said, "We are simply changing our name from one which has served us well in the past to one which will serve us better in the future."

First Essex Savings Bank has eight offices serving Lawrence, Andover, Methuen and North Andover.

Nursing Aide Course

Applications are being accepted for the 10-week certified nursing aide course beginning Nov. 24, at the Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute. Classes will be held daily from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

This program will offer five weeks of study at the Institute and five weeks of clinical experience at a local hospital. It will prepare the student to perform selected phases of health care in nursing homes and hospitals, and is open to all residents of Essex County. Upon completion of the course students will receive a certified nurses aide certificate.

For enrollment details call or write to the Admissions Office, Essex Agricultural and Technical Institute, Hathorne, MA 01937.

Michelle's Craft Shoppe — Downstairs From Woman's World

A new craft shop has come to Andover! Michelle's Craft Shoppe opened on June 17th at 90 Main Street, downstairs from Woman's World. It is owned and operated by Michelle and E. Grant who make all their own display pieces and have been into crafts for many years.

Stop in and browse in this cheerful craft supply shop, featuring materials for all your craft projects, as well as classes and workshops to help you get started on new craft projects. Classes now in progress include knitting, crocheting, needlepoint, crewel and macrame. Watch for the workshop on Christmas Lace Wreaths! Children's classes are offered on Saturdays.

Michelle's Craft Shoppe carries Elsa Williams kits in needlepoint and crewel, also Bernat and Bucilla kits. They have wicker mats, baskets, ceramic pots, silk flowers kits, floral supplies, silk and dried flowers, beads, books, crafty cord, elephant cord, pocketbook handles, wire frames, rings in all sizes, latch hook rugs, pillow frames. Also doll heads and doll parts, chenille, lamp frames, ribbon, polypropylene, Pepperell braid, Elsa Williams wool yarn as well as Persian yarn and tapestry yarn.

Beautiful models of needlepoint and crewel kits are on display; these models are also for sale and make excellent gift ideas for hostess or holiday gifts.

Michelle's selection of silk flowers is really spectacular. Kits are available for making arrangements, and containers of all kinds are in stock. Or sign up for the workshop.

New crafts are being added all the time, so drop in often and see what's new. Michelle is always on hand to offer advice and suggestions and to offer encouragement to the beginner. Sit around the table in the instruction corner and learn to make many beautiful craft items for your home or for gift-giving at the holiday season ahead. 10% discount for senior citizens & students Michelle's Craft Shoppe is open Tues.-Fri. 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sat. 9-5. For information, tel. 475-5593.

A GOOD FLOOR PLAN

When considering the purchase or construction of a new home, one of the major considerations should be a good floor plan. What do I mean by a good floor plan?

Most importantly, a sound floor plan is one where you can get to the separate areas of the house without going through another area (a mistake most often found in bedrooms).
The different areas should be well separated. The kitchen should be easily accessible from the dining room and recreation area.

Proper placement of closets and stairs should add convenience.
Bedroom closets are better placed on inside walls to function as a sound barrier between bedrooms. Improperly placed or oversized windows can make furniture arrangement impossible. Naturally, the size of the rooms will vary from house to house, but the living room should be large enough to contain at least one conversation group and allow room for movement and circulation. A good floor plan is only appreciated when you have suffered through a bad one.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100.
We're here to help.

Community Involvement Abating Vandalism

Police Chief James Johnson credits increased community involvement and a more responsible student body for a 20 to 30 percent decrease in crimes of all types in Andover since last year.

There have been 110 fewer cases of breaking and entering, and 200 fewer petty larcenies, such as stolen mailboxes, since last year, the chief reported to the selectmen Monday night.

Vandalism at the public schools and past hot spots such as Recreation Park has also decreased markedly, Johnson said.

The lower crime rate reflects efforts to reduce vandalism, alcohol abuse, breakings and enterings, and larceny in town through a crime prevention program that depends on citizen support.

Johnson and Crime Prevention Officer Joseph Oulette have spent the past few months speaking before religious and civic organizations to spread the word, and the result has been greater community involvement, Johnson said.

The chief also credited School Superintendent Kenneth R. Seifert for his anti-vandalism efforts at the schools.

"We couldn't have done it alone," Johnson noted. He added that the students themselves "are now standing up, so that the majority of the student body is now controlling the situation. Up until last year, a minority of students were in control."

Calling the lower incidence of vandalism "absolutely fantastic," Selectman Norma Gammon commented that "at last the police and schools are working hand in hand — this is something we haven't had for a long time."
